A possible version:

During my school life, I have read a lot of meaningful books. I regard them as my treasure. They teach me living skills. What's more, they give me creative ideas.

What impressed me most is an unforgettable experience. When I recall it, it made me memorable. Rather than confidently stayed on the stage, I used to be a shy boy. When I prepared to perform, my legs were shaking a lot. I was afraid I was laughed by my classmates and also I would make a mistake. At that time, I thought back to the book called Jane. It was the book that cheered me up. Jane was a weak girl, but she never cared about what other peers thought about her. Her spirit encouraged me a lot. I stood on the stage bravely again and tried to be the best of myself.

From my point of view, reading plays an important role in our daily life. Not only can it provide us with a lot of knowledge and skills, but also it helps us to gain a lot life experiences.

Hello, I'm a reporter from CCTV News. The "two sessions" closed in March. During the meetings, many suggestions were given and some of them were widely discussed. Here are three hot topics from the two sessions.

First, our country has recently been trying to improve reading across the country. National People's Congress deputy Lu Guiqing suggested that our country should set up a national reading day. This could make more people pay attention to deep reading and Chinese traditional culture.

Second, the people who are aged 60 and above, will be up to around 18 percent of the total population of China in 2020. How can we provide better service to them? Yang Jinsheng mentioned the smart health and elderly care for the old. He said it would completely change the old home's condition.

Third, school violence has been reported recently, which has drawn the attention of both the public and the government. In order to be against school violence and keep students safe, our country should make school security laws.
