Children's book illustrator (插画家) Rob Biddulph started to draw cute pictures on Post-its (便利贴) for his daughter's lunchbox every school day three years ago.

It all started when his little girl Poppy began to go to primary school, because she had to have lunch at school and she was worried about it.

To cheer her up, Biddulph drew a picture on a Post-it note hidden (被藏起来的) in her lunchbox. Poppy loved it! Six hundred Post-its later, the habit is still going strong.

The Post-its have a growing audience (观赏者) from Poppy's classmates to the lunchtime workers. "I get all the praise for the drawings when her mom is the one that makes the sandwiches!" jokes Rob.

Rob says he is happy to write down Poppy's life stories in this way. Some parents are inspired (鼓舞) by his sweet Post-its and start doing a similar thing for their kids. How cute!

你知道动物也能预报天气情况吗? 请阅读下面的短文,并根据所读内容,完成下列表格。(提示:每空不得超过两个词)

Animals can often change with the changing weather. Some even have a sixth feeling about it. What can they tell us about the weather?

Let's start with our little friends: birds. From the height (高度) of flying birds, we can tell how bad the weather is going to be.

It's said that if birds are flying high, the weather will be clear. But if they're flying closer to the ground, a storm (暴风雨) is probably on the way, because if they go too high up in the sky, the air pressure (气压) of the coming storm will cause them to feel pain.

The next one is the ant. To get ready for bad weather, ants build up mounds (土堆) to keep them safe. So if you see higher mounds than usual, it's probably going to rain and you'd better close the windows.

Ladybugs can also give us a hint (暗示) about the day's temperature. They move in large groups when the temperature goes up to 12~13°C. If you see these black and red bugs looking for a place to stay, then cold weather is on its way.

It seems that TV weathermen are about to lose their jobs and these animal weather reporters will take their place.

Animals	Behaviors (行为) in Weather
Birds	Flying high means the weather will be (58) _____. Flying (59) _____ the ground means a storm is on the way.
Ants	If you see (60) _____ mounds than usual, it's probably going to (61) _____.
Ladybugs	When these black and red bugs are (62) _____ a place to stay, then cold weather is on its way.

Bossaball is a ball game from Belgium. It is a mix of volleyball, football, gymnastics (体操) and dance. Two teams play it on an inflatable court (充气球场). There are four or five players in each team. There is a trampoline (蹦床) on each side. The trampolines help the players to jump high enough in the air to throw or kick the ball over the net and win points. Music is another big part of the sport. During the game, music can give players fun and rhythm (节奏). There are three sets (局) among a match. The winner of each set is the first team to win 25 points.

Today, people in many other countries, such as Brazil, Germany and France, play bossaball. People can enjoy its fun in different places, both indoors and outdoors. It takes less than 45 minutes to set up (建起) the playfield. After that, get ready to play!
