Sometimes I really doubt whether there is love between my parents. Every day they are busy trying to make money in order to pay for my schooling.

One day, my mother was repairing a quilt. I silently sat beside her and looked at her. "Mom, is there love between you and Dad?" I asked her in a very low voice. My mother stopped her work and looked at me in surprise. Then, she said, "Susan, look at this thread (线). Sometimes it appears, but most of the time, it hides in the quilt. The thread really makes the quilt strong. If life is a quilt, then love should be a thread. It can hardly be seen anywhere or anytime, but it's really there."

I couldn't understand her until the next spring. At that time, my father suddenly got sick seriously. My mother had to stay with him in the hospital for a month. When they returned from the hospital, my mother helped my father walk slowly on the country road every day. They were so kind to each other. But after two months my father still couldn't walk by himself. I was so worried about him. "Dad, how are you feeling now?" I asked him one day. "Susan, don't worry about me." he said gently. "To tell you the truth, I just like walking with your mom. I like this kind of life." Reading his eyes, I know he loves my mother deeply.

Now I understand that love is just a thread in the quilt of our life. Love is inside, making life strong and warm.

Nowadays, there's always a long line in the women's toilets. Therefore, the idea of unisex (男女通用的) toilets has been thought up by some people.

In some people's opinion, it can help solve the problem. 1 Also, it will be convenient for mothers to take their little babies or kids, both boys and girls, to the toilet. People won't be used to it right away. But it is still a good idea.

As far as we know, the aging (老龄化) population is a big problem in China today. More and more people are getting older and older. 2 This is a big problem. A unisex bathroom can solve it. Old people can go to the bathroom with their family so that they can avoid some accidents, such as falling down.

However, some people don't like this idea. In their opinion, they think it is not safe for women. 3 People may have no privacy (隐私). Also, women's toilets are always crowded. If unisex toilets are built, they will become more crowded because of women and bring trouble to men. To solve the problem, the unisex toilets must be very big. 4

"If I go to a unisex toilet, I will feel uneasy and embarrassed. I can't imagine the scene. I may not want to use them at all. 5" One of my neighbors says.

This policy is not perfect. Maybe it is better to directly build more women's toilets and fewer men's toilets.

- A. Some old people don't agree with this idea, for they can go to toilets by themselves.
- B. Compared with simply building more women's toilets, many people think it saves space and resources (资源).
- C. It will need more land and be a waste of resources.
- D. Even if it has high walls, it is still possible to cause problems when men and women use the same bathroom.
- E. And most of them cannot go to the bathroom by themselves.
- F. I think the only right way is to try to solve the problem of women having to wait for a long time to use toilets.

Hugging is an extremely positive form of communication. It expresses the values of love, agreement, thanks and forgiveness. Research shows that hugs have more positive effects on children and adults than just some encouraging words and a smiling face. Giving our child a hug in different situations can make a world of difference in our young learner's lives.

On the first day of school, giving a hug coupled with a few calming breaths just might help your little learner overcome "The First Day Fears." By the way, giving hugs for the first full week wouldn't hurt either. Hugs are both inexpensive and very healthy.

It's the day of the class play and your kid is not so confident about saying a few words as a wild turkey in front of an audience. Giving a hug coupled with a few encouraging words just might help them feel more confident.

Usually, bedtime is the most scary time of the day for most kids, who feel very stressed and may stay up. Giving a tight hug coupled with reading their favorite story or singing their favorite song may help them have a good sleep.

Besides, according to Intelligence Quotient Development in Children on eHow.com, "A caring and inspiring environment is always helpful in developing a child's language skills. Make sure your child gets plenty of hugs and kisses and hears positive and encouraging words from you."

Sometimes we get caught up in teaching, parenting, providing, and protecting our children that we forget to hug them. If there's one thing your child or student may need from you to help adapt their behavior or improve their IQ, it may just be something as simple as a hug.

A positive hug could change the course of the day for you both when you least expect it. So remember to hug your children often and put emotion behind it and really mean it!
