In the village of Kentucky, there lived a young girl named Amanda. She moved here for only 2 weeks. Her closest friends were far from her. Amanda kept herself busy for hours by walking around the grassy fields nearby, enjoying the natural beauty along them. On the weekend, Amanda would even volunteer on farms to help take care of sheep, cows and horses.

Still, it was easy for Amanda to feel lonely in her big house. One day, just as Amanda was about to leave and spend time walking around, she saw a cat jump onto the porch(门廊) . Even though the cat looked dirty, it was beautiful, with bright blue eyes.

Amanda’s feeling of surprise quickly gave way to a feeling of pity. Thinking of what she could offer the cat, Amanda hurried to the kitchen and prepared two bowls: one filled with fish and the other with water. After sniffing (嗅) them carefully, the cat began to hungrily eat them. Once it finished its meal, the cat ran away into the thick grass and disappeared.

From that day, the cat would appear on the porch every day in the morning and beg for food and water, and Amanda would always be there ready. Their relationship started to deepen as Amanda enjoyed regularly seeing her new “furry(毛茸茸的)neighbor”. The cat was too nervous to be taken indoors, but it was comfortable with Amanda gradually.

However, one day, everything took a different turn. In the morning, Amanda brought a bowl of fish near the porch and waited for the cat as usual, but it didn't appear. The next day, and the day after that, the cat didn't show up either. She stepped into the thick grass where the cat usually went and searched carefully.

At that time, she heard the sounds of kittens(小 猫) meowing. She was surprised to find her “furry neighbor” lying in the grass with four kittens. The kittens were very cute. Amanda quickly rushed back home to prepare some food and water for them.

After exercising on a hot summer day, the first thing that you want to do is to drink up a glass of cold water. When the water travels down your throat, you will feel so good. However, you are often told not to do so. Is drinking cold water unhealthy?

Cold water can influence a person's digestive system. It takes longer to turn the food you eat into energy. And you are easy to get a stomachache. Having cold water or a cold drink makes your body's temperature lower. Cold water also makes your blood vessels(血管)become narrower. As a result, your blood runs slower. So your body needs to burn more energy to bring your temperature back to normal. At the same time, less energy is used for digestion.

Think of your digestive system as a burning pot. If someone suddenly pours cold water into this pot, what will happen? Doing this will be dangerous. Similarly, when you drink cold water while eating, it is like adding water into a burning pot. Of course, it isn't that bad, but it is a good way to explain why drinking cold water during meals may be a bad idea. If you can't control your urge (冲动)to do so, drinking water at room temperature is a better choice.

Traditional Chinese medicine suggests avoiding drinking cold water. Modern studies in Europe also point out that drinking cold water causes headaches. Scientists are doing more research on this. Maybe in the future, they can give us more helpful information.

根据材料内容选择最佳答案。

31. What is the meaning of the underlined words “digestive system” in Paragraph 2?

33. What kind of water is the writer's suggestion according to Paragraph 3?

- A. Cold water. B. Hot water.
C. Water with sugar D. Room temperature water.

34. Why is Paragraph 4 written?

- A. To introduce the traditional Chinese medicine.
- B. To tell the history of traditional Chinese medicine.
- C. To show the danger of drinking cold water in different countries.
- D. To give more information on why we shouldn't drink cold water.

35. In which unit of a textbook can the text be found?

- A. Unit 1 Relationship.
