Nowadays more and more Chinese teenagers find life is more difficult without their parents. They don't know how to do 31 because their parents do 32 everything for them at home. This is a big problem.

Joy is 14 years old. One day her parents went away 33 business, so she had to stay at home alone. At first she thought she would be happy 34 her parents were not in. She could do everything 35 she liked. But it was six o'clock in the afternoon. She felt 36. "Oh, it's time 37 supper. Where can I get my food?" she said to 38. Later she found some food in the fridge, but she 39 know how to cook. At that moment, she missed her 40 very much. At last she could only go to the supermarket and 41 some food to eat.

Many of teenagers are 42 as Joy. So I think they should learn some basic life 43, like cooking, tidying up their rooms or dressing themselves 44. They shouldn't 45 too much on their parents.

BIPC would like to invite beekeepers to the World Bee Day Activities

9:00 a. m. —4:00 p. m., Sunday, May 20th 2018

Landhill Hall, Cornwall

Bees are now in danger and its number is going down every year largely because of human activity, while a third of the world's food production depends on this yellow and black insect (昆虫) and other pollinators (传授花粉者).

May 20th this year is the first World Bee Day. It was created last year by the UN, after Slovenia put forward the idea, to draw people's attention to the important role of bees and other pollinators in keeping the planet healthy.

A day for all those who are interested in learning to improve the quality of their bees! A day also for those who want to know more about bee keeping!

Bring your family with you and have fun! Let's celebrate everything connected with bees and the coming of spring!

Activities for the whole family:

talks on bees/bee products for sale/wax (蜡) & candle-making lessons

Bee Communication:

Dr Gavin Ramsay will explain the dances of bees, telling you about what smart behaviors bees have.

Cleaning beeswax & candle-making: Classes will be given by Kate Black.

Café: Lunch and tea/coffee/cakes are available at the café.

These activities are held by BIPC, the Bee Improvement Program for Cornwall.

Tickets are $8 for members of BIPC and $10 for non-members.

Half price for a child.

All the money will go to the city Bee Protection Project.

Book your place by emailing beegreen@hotmail.com.

In some places around China, the junior high school graduates have to take a P. E. test. The full marks are usually 30 points and it counts for much in the senior high school entrance exams.

In Nanjing the test is held in April. Students have the test in their own schools. Each student is tested on three sports. They can choose long jump, basketball dribbling (运球) or volleyball. The pull-up is for boys and girls can choose the sit-up. Both boys and girls must skip in the test.

Most students find the test easy and more than 90% of them can get full marks. That's because they have been training for it during the three whole years. Students in Junior Three usually do lots of practice in P. E. classes. The training makes the test easier than it seems to be.

Students in Nanjing don't need to run a lot for the test, but students in Beijing must do lots of running for the test. Running is one of the sports in the test. So in P. E. classes, they usually run a lot. Sometimes they have to run 3,000 meters in one class. Most teachers and parents welcome the P. E. test. They say it helps students build up their health and it's really useful.

根据短文内容, 选择最佳答案。(5 分)

- () 51. The P. E. test in Nanjing includes all of these sports except _____.
A. skipping B. basketball C. football D. volleyball

Do you know the real meaning of "being open"? Being open is a kind of invitation to others to come in, to speak and to share. It's important to let others get to know how we think and feel. In this way we will be understood and accepted by others. If we aren't open with others, we won't fully believe in ourselves or others.

Here are a few ways for you to be more open. First, make your outside behaviors the same as your inside feelings and thoughts. Second, share how you really feel about something instead of just opinions. Third, try to change your questions into statements and talk in the first person so that people will understand you more easily. For example, you might say, "I feel happy that you're here." instead of "Are you glad that you're here?" Finally, try not to say, "I don't know." This usually means I don't want to think about it any more.

Remember that it is not suitable to be open with everyone in every situation. You may want to be more open with close friends, but not with people you don't know well, because you're not sure how someone else will use what they know about you. Besides, some people may not be used to too much openness. If we say everything we feel and think to them, they will feel very uncomfortable at times.

In all, being open is a good way for us to get on well with other people. We'd better keep the balance between being open and not being too open.

根据短文内容, 判断正 (T) 误 (F)。(5 分)

- () 56. Being open is a kind of behavior which helps people believe in others.
 () 57. There are four ways for people to be more open in this passage.
 () 58. Sometimes too much openness may make some people feel uncomfortable.
 () 59. Being open is the only way for people to get on well with others.
 () 60. From the passage, we know we'd better be more open to everyone.

Maybe you are an average (平常的) student. You probably think you will never be a top student. But anyone can become a better student if he or she does his or her best. Here are some tips to help you.

Plan your time carefully. When you plan your week, you should make a list of things that you have to do. After making this list, you should make a timetable. First your time for eating, sleeping, dressing, etc. Then decide a good, regular (规律的) time for studying.
61 A proper timetable may not solve all your problems, but it will help you to realize what is happening to your time.

Find a good place to study. Look around the house for a good study area. Keep this space, which may be a desk or simply a corner of your room, free of everything but study materials (材料). 62 When you sit down to study, concentrate on the subject.

Make good use of your time in class. 63 Listening carefully in class means less work later. Taking notes will also help you remember what the teacher says.

Study regularly. When you get home from school, go over your notes. 64 If you know what your teacher is going to discuss the next day, reading that material will become more meaningful, and you will remember it longer.

Develop a good attitude about tests. The purpose of a test is to show what you have learned about a subject. 65 The world won't end if you don't pass a test, so don't be overly worried.

There are other methods that might help you with your studying. You will probably discover many others after you have tried these.

An old man walked slowly into a restaurant with his walking stick. His old jacket and worn shoes made him poor and unusual.

A young waitress named Mary watched him walk close to a table by the window. She ran over to him, and said with a smile, "Here, sir. Let me give you a hand."

Without saying a word, he gave her a smile. She pulled the chair away from the table and helped him sit down. Then she put his walking stick against the table so that he could reach it. In a soft, clear voice, he said, "Thank you, Miss."

"You're welcome, sir," she replied. "I'll be back in a moment, and if you need anything, just wave at me!"

After he had finished a good meal, Mary brought him the change. She handed him his walking stick, and walked with him to the front door. Holding the door open for him, she said, "Come back and see us, sir!" The old man turned around and smiled.

When Mary went to clean his table, she was shocked. Under the plate, she found a business card, a 100-dollar bill and a note. The note said, "Dear Mary, I respect you very much, and you respect yourself, too. It shows the way you treat others. You have found the secret of happiness."

In fact, the old man was the owner of the restaurant. That was the first time that she, or any of his waitresses, had seen him.
