Passage 2

A little boy almost thought of himself as the unluckiest child in the world because he was born with a lame (瘸的) leg. He seldom played with his classmates and always lowered his head without a word.

One spring, the boy’s father gave each child a small tree to plant. “Whoever grows the best tree will get a favorite gift,” he said to them. Seeing his brothers and sisters watering the trees happily in the garden, he had a terrible idea in his mind: he hoped the tree he planted would die soon. So he never cared about it.

A few days later, he was surprised to find it not only didn’t die, but also grew some fresh leaves, and it looked greener and healthier than the others. He got a favorite gift and was told by his father: from the tree he planted, he would become a great botanist (植物学家). One night, looking at the bright moonlight outside the window, he suddenly remembered what his teacher once said: most plants grow at night. He wanted to see the lovely tree. When he came to the garden, he found his father was watering his tree carefully. At that time, he understood: his father had secretly taken good care of his small tree! He returned to his room with tears (泪水) rolling down his face.

Many years passed. The little boy didn’t become a botanist, but he was known as a great president of the United States. His name was Franklin Roosevelt.

- () 30. The little boy regarded himself as _____ all the time.
A. a helpful son B. a kind brother C. an unlucky kid D. a clever student
- () 31. The boy’s tree grew best because _____.
A. his teacher gave him some advice B. it was the best tree at the beginning
C. his father looked after it really well D. other children didn’t water their trees

- ()32. The little boy became a_____ when he grew up.
A. president B. painter C. botanist D. doctor
- ()33. The story mainly tells us_____.
A. health is very important B. it’s hard to get to the top
C. planting trees needs secrets D. love is the best gift of life

Passage 3

Have you ever heard of Stephen Hawking? He was a great English scientist who first thought up the prediction called Hawking radiation (霍金辐射). But unluckily, he died on March 14, 2018.

Although Stephen Hawking has been dead, people never forget him. This famous scientist made a big difference to the whole world. So recently the UK has made a coin (硬币) with a black hole in memory of him.

The 50-pence coin looks amazing. However, it is only for collection and people can buy it only on a certain website. Instead of putting a picture of the scientist himself on the coin, the designer went for something far more unusual. Among swirling (打旋) lines is Hawking’s name below a famous physical formula (物理公式). Maybe if Stephen Hawking saw such a design, he would be happy and praise it.

“I wanted to put a big black hole on the small coin and wish he would still be here laughing happily because of the idea,” designer Edwina Ellis told the reporter.

The physical formula on the coin was one of Stephen Hawking’s greatest achievements. It describes how a black hole might work. After Edwina finished the design, he showed it to the scientist’s daughter Lucy Hawking and she agreed with the design.

“It’s a great honor (荣誉) to appear on a coin,” Lucy said. “And I wish my father would be happy to have the same honor as Newton and Darwin.”

- ()34. How has the UK remembered Stephen Hawking?
A. By making an amazing coin. B. By writing his stories into books.
C. By using his black hole theory(理论). D. By learning more about him from his daughter.
- ()35. What does the underlined word “praise” mean?
A. 守卫 B. 赞扬 C. 设计 D. 批判
- ()36. Which of the following does NOT appear on the coin?
A. A black hole. B. A physical formula.
C. Stephen Hawking’s name. D. A picture of Stephen Hawking.
- ()37. What’s the best title for the passage?
A. A special coin. B. Stephen Hawking.
C. Learn about the black hole. D. A famous physical formula.
