Do you know Tang Shuai? He's China's only sign language lawyer (手语律师). He was born in 1985 in Chongqing. His parents can't hear or speak. After Tang was born, his father sent him to his grandparents' home, so he could talk to others. They wanted him to be healthy. But when Tang was old enough, he hoped to learn more about his parents and communicate with them, so he decided to learn sign language.

One day in 2006, a mother asked him to help her daughter who couldn't speak. Someone thought the girl took away his mobile phone but she didn't do that. With the help of Tang Shuai, people finally knew the fact. After that, Tang Shuai decided to be a sign language lawyer to help more people. He worked hard and became a lawyer six years later.

Now Tang Shuai spends lots of his free time on legal education (法律教育). He hopes that there will be more sign language lawyers in China.

5. Why did Tang Shuai's father send him to his grandparents' home?

- A. Because they were busy.
- B. Because Tang Shuai's grandparents were lonely.
- C. Because Tang Shuai's grandparents missed (想念) him.
- D. Because they wanted Tang Shuai to talk with others.

6. The underlined word "communicate" means "_____".

- A. 保护
- B. 交流
- C. 讨论
- D. 解释

7. What can we learn from the passage?

- A. Tang Shuai's parents aren't able to walk.
- B. There are many sign language lawyers in China now.
- C. Tang Shuai is very kind and he works hard.
- D. Tang Shuai became a lawyer in 2006.

took him almost an hour 18 there. Also at that time, he met my grandma and then they married. 19 they had four children.

"20 was not easy then but we felt happy," my grandpa often says.

三、阅读表达 (共 5 小题; 每小题 2 分, 共 10 分)

Dear Jenny,

I am writing to you from Germany. My parents and I got here yesterday. Here is an interesting thing! We became "Smurfs"(蓝精灵) today. When we went out of the hotel in the morning, we found many "Smurfs" on the street. They painted their faces blue and dressed up like "Smurfs". They wanted to break a world record for the most human "Smurfs" in one place. A little girl called Maggie asked us if we would like to join them. Of course! We'd like to. Then we painted ourselves and got dressed, too. My mom and I wore white hats, blue shirts and white dresses. My dad was in a blue shirt and red trousers. Guess what! There were 2762 "Smurfs" in all today. We broke the world record! How exciting!

We'll fly home next weekend. I will show you more pictures then!

Yours,

Alice
