Students these days often have a lot of worries. Sometimes they have 36 with their schoolwork, and sometimes with their friends. What can they do about this? Some people believe the worst thing is to do nothing. Laura Mills, a teenager from London, agrees. "Problems and worries are 37 in life," says Laura. "But I think talking to someone 38 a lot. Unless we talk to someone, we'll 39 feel worse.

Laura once lost her wallet, and worried for days. She was afraid to tell her parents about it. She didn't have any money 40 she walked three miles to school each day. She just kept thinking, "If I tell my parents, they'll be angry!" In the end, she talked to her 41 and they were really understanding. Her father said he sometimes made 42 mistakes himself. They got her a new wallet and asked her to be more careful. "I will always remember to share my problems in the future!" Laura says.

Robert Hunt advises students about common problems. 43 feels the same way as Laura. "It is best not to run away from our problems. We should always try to solve them." He thinks the 44 step is to find someone you trust to talk to. This person doesn't need to be an expert like himself. Students often forget that their parents have more experience, and are always there to help them. In English, we say that sharing a problem is 45 cutting it in half. So you're halfway to solving a problem just by talking to someone about it!

One Saturday morning, two mice find two big pieces of bread.

The big mouse says, "The bread is very nice, but they are too big. 56 "

The small mouse says, "57 but we must think about it." He looks at the bread and gets an idea. He breaks (破碎) one big piece into many small pieces. 58

"I don't want to waste (浪费) my time on small pieces," says the big mouse. Then he starts to move the other big piece of bread.

Soon the small mouse comes back from home. He sees the big mouse moving the big piece with effort (使劲地). 59 The small mouse takes a small piece home again. This goes on (继续) for a day. 60 But the big mouse doesn't take any bread back to its home. The story tells us when we meet difficulties, we should try to think about it carefully, then we can solve them successfully.

- A. Then he takes one small piece home.
B. How can we take them home?
C. The small mouse takes all the bread home.
D. But he can't move it.
E. It's difficult for us.

(D)

请阅读下面短文，回答所给问题，并将答案填写到答题卡相应的位置上。

Thanksgiving Day was near. To celebrate the festival, Miss Smith asked her class to draw a picture, she wants to let the children show their thanks. Most of the class might draw a big turkey because it is a symbol of the festival.

However, Mike drew a special picture. He was a different boy from others. In his picture, he drew a big hand.

His classmates guessed whose (谁的) hand it could be. Some children guessed it was the hand of a farmer because farmers looked after turkeys. Others guessed a policeman's hand because the police helped people. Then the teacher asked, "Mike, whose hand is it?" He said, "It's yours, Miss Smith, because you always help me."

Mike's words let the teacher think of the happy time they spent together. For many times she said, "Take my hand, Mike. We'll go outside for a walk." Or, "Let me show you how to hold (握) your pencil." Or, "Let's play the toy together..."

We should give thanks to people around us and learn how to help others. The more love you give, and the more love you'll get.

61. Why did Miss Smith ask the children to draw a picture?
62. In Mike's picture, what did Mike draw?
63. Who did Mike want to thank?
64. From the passage, did the teacher love her children?
65. Please translate the underlined sentence into Chinese. (请将画线句子翻译成汉语)
