The classic tale of Alice's Adventures in Wonderland (《爱丽丝梦游仙境》) is a book many children grow up with. It has been around for over 150 years.

In the story, the 7-year-old Alice is running after a white rabbit, but she accidentally 36 down a rabbit hole. She enters a world called Wonderland, and this is 37 the adventure (冒险) begins.

In Wonderland, there seems to be no rules or logic (逻辑). Alice meets many strange and wonderful characters. A cruel queen says she is going to 38 off someone's head every two minutes. A cat smiles so big that its lips (嘴唇) almost 39 its ears. And strange things happen to Alice too. Her body 40 and shrinks (缩小) during her time in Wonderland.

Alice is very annoyed because she doesn't 41 this strange place. But in fact, the story is about an innocent (天真的) child trying to make 42 of the strange adult world, said Professor Will Brooker of Kingston University London.

When British author Lewis Carroll wrote the story in 1865, its special style and humor made 43 a classic of its time. It even created some 44 we still use today. When people say "down the rabbit hole", they mean to make a choice where the result is unknown.

The story also lives on through different artworks. There are 45 and music videos based on the story. In summer 2016, the movie Alice Through the Looking Glass was released in cinemas.

Johnson is a blind man who likes traveling alone. However, as a blind man, he has met a lot of troubles during his trips.

Once Johnson traveled to Texas. It was his first time to go there. During the flight, he sat next to a woman who came from Texas. The woman told him that everything was bigger and better in her city. When Johnson arrived, he found a hotel and decided to spend the night there.

After dinner, Johnson went to a wine bar and ordered a glass of wine. When the waiter brought him one, he was surprised. "Wow! How big!" he said. Johnson doesn't drink often, so he was a little drunk after drinking the wine. He wanted to go to the restroom, so he asked another waiter for directions. "Turn right at the information desk and it is the second door on the right," said the waiter.

When Johnson walked past the first door, he fell down. He missed the second and went towards the third door instead. He walked forward and then fell into the swimming pool. At that time he remembered what the woman from Texas told him on the plane. "Don't flush(冲洗)! Don't flush!" he shouted as soon as he got his head above water.

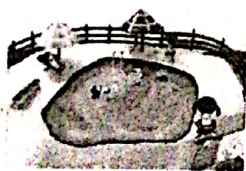

46. Johnson traveled to Texas _____.

- A. by train B. by bus C. by plane D. by subway

47. According to this passage, we know that Johnson is weak in _____.

- A. drinking B. swimming C. walking D. traveling

48. From the passage, we know that Johnson thought he fell into _____.

D

49. Johnson turned right at the information desk and walked into the _____ door on the right.

- A. first B. second C. third D. fourth

50. Johnson mistook the swimming pool for a restroom because he believed that the restrooms in Texas are _____.

- A. cleaner B. bigger C. deeper D. smaller

Batman, Jubilee, the X-Men—all are superheroes. What makes a superhero? Let's look at seven things that superheroes share.

1. Nearly all superheroes have super-human powers. For example, Superman can fly, and Wonder Woman can talk with animals.

2. A secret identity (身份) helps protect the superhero's family and friends. In a few cases friends and family know the superhero's identity—that Spider-Man is really Peter Parker or that Bruce Banner is actually the Hulk.

3. A colorful costume helps the public make out the superhero, and at the same time it hides his or her identity.

4. All superheroes are honest and own a strong moral code (道德准则). They respect the law but will break it if doing so will lead to the greater good. Superheroes expect no reward and seldom kill people.

5. There are always enemies who have similar powers for Superheroes to fight against.

6. As a child, Bruce Wayne saw a man kill his parents. He began training hard and later became Batman. The story tells how the superhero actually became the superhero we know. Superheroes are seldom born that way.

7. A weakness can make a superhero helpless. This is also what makes him or her interesting. To succeed they must overcome this weakness.

The superhero is perhaps not so different from us. It is the purpose of the story that speaks to us. They tell important truths about human nature. The superhero is a symbol of our hopes and goals. These are what we see in ourselves. And the superhero's enemies are our own fears, such as crime and war. The superhero often loses but never, ever gives up. This is a lesson we can all learn from. Like us, the superhero is not perfect, but that's exactly what makes a true hero.

51. Which picture best describes "costume" in Paragraph 4?

A.

B.

C.

D.

52. Superheroes have special costumes _____.

- A. to frighten the enemy
- C. to show off

- B. to hide their identities
- D. to make out their members

53. What do superheroes have in common?

- A. Super powers over animals.
- C. A strong moral code.

- B. An identity unknown to their family.
- D. Super powers from birth.

54. Why does the writer point out the similarities between superheroes and us?

- A. To encourage us to try to be perfect.
- B. To advise us to act like superheroes.
- C. To show that having weaknesses is of human nature.
- D. To prove that superheroes have the same enemies as us.

55. What lesson can we learn from the superheroes?

- A. Never give up.
- B. Never set a life goal.

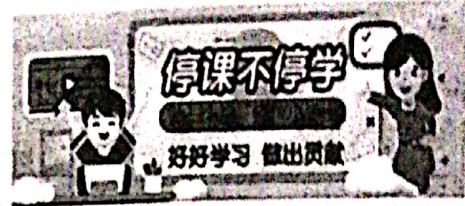

C. Always hope for the best.

D. Always learn to tell stories.

On January 27, in order to win COVID-19 Resistance War, the Ministry of Education issued (公布) a notice on putting off the start time of school in spring 2020. It was said that school should not start before March. 26. The exact start time of school will depend on situations and further notices.

However, many parents are very worried that putting off the start of school may affect children's studies. If they have such a long winter vacation, children won't learn any knowledge, read books or study at all. They may forget what they have learned before. Staying at home for a long time will make them keep eating, sleeping and playing, which seriously affect their physical and mental health.

In short, the close of school influences learning and develops bad habits, so how should we avoid these problems? Local education departments have also issued a notice, that is, to organize online teaching and create a network platform (平台), where necessary courses will be shown every day, and online teaching will be given by excellent teachers, and students can learn at home through computer or mobile network. It should be said that such a method is very good. It can not only keep students indoors and not worry about the infection of the disease, but also make them study at home, improve their learning ability, and truly achieve "no suspension of classes". Both the platform and the recorded lesson resources are more useful, and are welcomed by parents and teachers.

Of course, except for learning at home, it is also necessary to teach children about health knowledge, especially how to keep away from touching virus; at the same time, it is also necessary for children to do some physical exercises or some games, which is good for physical health at home.

56. Parents worried about putting off the start time of school because ____.

A. children's study may be affected

B. they don't like the online learning

C. children may be infected by virus

D. parents're too busy to look after children

57 Except for learning at home, what is also necessary according to the writer?

A. To keep touching different people

B. To teach children about health knowledge

C. To keep playing the online games

D. To do some physical exercises outside

58. The underlined word "suspension" in Para 4 probably means "_____".

A. plan

B. growth

C. change

D. stop

59. Which is TRUE according to the passage?

A. Students would rather go to school.

B. Online teaching will help students study.

C. The date of going to school is decided

D. Parents believe children can teach themselves.

60. What's the best title for this passage?

A. A Special Way to Learn at Home.

B. A New War with a New Chance.

Why do designers of fireworks like to put the biggest bang at the end? Why does a gymnast often show her best skill at the end of her performance? And why does the climax (高潮) of a movie usually come at the end instead of the beginning?

To answer these questions, you need to understand a rule in psychology first. It's called the "peak-end rule".

Please think about this: How do we usually judge (判定) a past event? Do we take an average of our happiness levels across the entire event? No. In fact, our memories are affected by the "peak-end rule". We don't remember all parts of the event equally. Instead, we only think of how the event was at the end and how it was at its "peak". That helps us decide whether we would like to experience the event again.

One of the most famous papers on the rule was published in 1993. Scientists asked a group of people to put their hand in freezing water. People had to keep their hand in the water for 60 seconds. Then, the same group of people was asked to do the same thing again. This time, however, they had to leave their hands in the water for 30 seconds longer while the temperature was raised a little bit. They were then asked which of the two experiences they would prefer to repeat.

You might think people would choose the first one. However, most people said they would like to repeat the second experience. They chose more pain over less, but with a happier ending.

So the next time you make a plan, plan for the best things to happen at the end. Don't worry if things don't go according to your plans. After all, you may not remember the bad bits!

61. The underlined word "freezing" means _____ in English.
A. terribly hot B. very dirty C. quite clean D. terribly cold
62. In Paragraph 4, how long did the group of people keep their hand in the water the second time?
A. 30s B. 60s C. 90s D. 120s
63. How do we decide whether we should experience an event again?
A. Ask some of our closest friends for advice.
B. Think about how we felt across the entire event.
C. Think about how the event was at the end and at its best part.
D. Compare the event with the plan that we made at the beginning.
64. Which of the following can be explained by the "peak-end rule"?
A. He who laughs last laughs best.
B. People is likely to enjoy their favorite part of a dish in the end.
C. During an 800-meter race, we run the fastest in the last 50 meters.
D. The most difficult part of a quiz usually appears at the end.

65. Which of the following might be a suitable title for the passage?

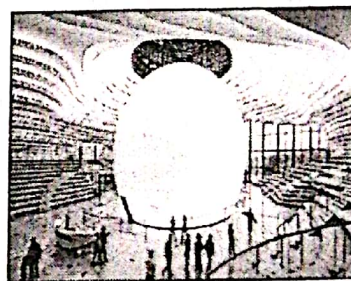

- A. All's well that ends well.
- B. A guide to making good plans.
- C. How a past event is judged.
- D. Good beginning is half done.

A new library in Tianjin -- Tianjin Binhai Public Library -- recently became an online hit. Newsweek Magazine chose the word "breathtaking" to describe it. 66 With its wonderful design and walls filled with books, it's the dream library of every booklover.

But as physical bookstores are closing down one by one, there's a question lying in the back of our minds: 67 Reporter Ian Clark has the answer. "Libraries are not declining in importance. 68" he wrote on Facebook. Since not everyone can afford a smartphone and knows how to search the internet correctly, it's public libraries that make sure that technologies are available to most people.

- A. It's something that's called a "third place".
- B. Once you actually being there, you'll see why.
- C. People are simply changing the way they use them.
- D. Nobody is trying to sell you anything in the library.
- E. Do we really still need libraries now we've got the internet in our hands?

Besides, we still need the physical space that a library provides. 69 This is a place in which we can fully focus on our study and work. And compared to other "third places" like coffee shops, libraries allow you to relax completely. 70 There is no pressure to buy and there is no judgment of your choices.
