With the rapid development of science and industry, our world has changed a lot. Many new things have appeared in our daily life. These make our life more convenient and make our communications more flexible.

For example, computers are very important to modern life. Some people hardly go to the shop in their spare time but they buy things on the Internet instead. Because they think the price of different kinds of clothes or living things is lower than that in shopping centers and huge markets. What's more, their qualities (质量) are the same. At the same time, people can watch movies by the Internet instead of going to the cinema. People living or working in different places can see and talk with each other by computers, too. Some people are glad about these new ways of shopping and communicating.

Another example, computers can help us improve our reading a lot. Some people needn't read books made of paper. Instead, they read them on small pocket computers because the computers can keep many different books in them at the same time. They don't need to turn lots of pages and paper is saved as well. More and more electronic books are being used.

根据材料内容选择最佳答案。

- () 31. From the second paragraph we can know that computers are used for ____.
- A. buying things, watching movies and talking with people

For teenagers, growing up is a good thing. but it is also a painful experience in their lives. 36 They will feel confused and afraid, and even lose confidence because of these physical and emotional changes. Well, what are those changes?

37 There are increasing changes in height, voice, skin and so on. They begin to worry about all these changes in their bodies, and to check whether they are developing normally or not. They will also compare themselves with other teenagers.

In primary school, children usually wore what their parents gave them, and never thought about the style of the clothes. Now, they worry about how they look in others' eyes. 38 And sometimes they will even have arguments with their parents about the clothes they should wear. 39 Whether they are popular or not will become a very important part in their lives. Sometimes, they will compare with each other to prove who have more friends. They begin to like to show themselves.

However, as a teenager, whatever problems you have, remember to talk to your parents, teachers and friends. 40 Teenage life is a wonderful period of time. Enjoy it!
