范文：

There are three people in my family. We have different eating habits. My mother likes eating different kinds of vegetables and fruits, so she always keeps fit. It's very good for her health. However, my father likes eating fast food for lunch because he is very busy. And he always forgets to drink water when he works. I don't think it's good for him. Eating too much fast food is bad for his health.

My favourite food is hamburgers and noodles, and I like milk tea very much. But my mum says it's bad for my teeth.

To keep healthy, we must have a balanced diet with more vegetables and less junk food. It's important to eat the right food, because we are what we eat.
