British roads are the safest in the world-----in 2010, only 3.8 people out of 100,000 died in road accidents. This number is lower than that in any other country. If you go there, you should try to drive the same way British people do. Here is some advice(建议) for visitors who plan to go driving in the UK.

Drive on the left side of the road. In most countries, people drive on the right side. Many problems happened because they forget about this difference.

If there is a line of cars, don't try to go past other people to get to the front. This is called "jumping the line". If you do this, other people won't be happy with you.

Stop at traffic lights. In the UK, drivers always stop when the light is red, even if there aren't any cars or people around.

Don't use your horn (喇叭) too much. If you do, people will think you are not polite. If other drivers flash their lights at you, then they are trying to tell you that they will wait for you to go first.

If you have an accident, then don't try to bribe the police. They will not take your money, and they'll catch you immediately.

Remember these and you will have a good time in the UK.

- ( ) 47. The writer gives us _____ pieces of advice about driving in the UK.

D

There is nothing more important to life than the sun. Without the sun, all living things on the earth would die.

The sun is a star. In the sky there are thousands of stars like the sun. They are as large as the sun and as hot as the sun. At night you can see many stars, but in the day time you can only see one star, the sun. The sun is much nearer to us than any other stars. That is why it looks the biggest and brightest of all the stars. The distance between the sun and the earth is as much as 150 million kilometers. Most of the stars are thousands of light years away from the earth. Do you know the light year? Nothing in the world travels faster than light. It travels 300,000 kilometers a second(秒). And one light year is the distance that light travels in one year.
