四. 阅读理解 (每题 2 分, 共 20 分)

A

Susan and her friends are talking about what presents they want for their birthdays.

Mark

Can I be a little greedy (贪吃的)? I want cookies or pies as presents. I will be very happy if I receive some nice pies like chicken pies.

Susan

I enjoy singing and listening to music. So I hope for a CD by my favourite singer, Michael Jackson.

Anne

I'd like a big teddy bear or a doll. I had many dolls in the past. But my brother broke most of them. He doesn't like any dolls but toy cars.

Robert

I like to get cards with best wishes. I can remember my friends when I see the cards. Then I won't feel lonely. A book like Harry Potter is also OK. I've bought six books about Harry Potter. I hope for the seventh now.

Nancy

I wish for nicely home-baked chocolate cookies. Last month I went to my friend Rose's birthday party. There I ate lots of chocolate cookies. Rose's mother cooked them. They were so delicious. I miss them very much.

C. Anne and her brother dislike dolls
D. Robert dislikes reading Harry Potter

B

Most of Tom's neighbours were friendly. They were always ready to help each other when they were in trouble. But everyone hated one woman because she was always borrowing things from her neighbours but forgetting to give them back.

One morning, Tom heard a knock(敲) at his front door, and when he opened the door he found this woman outside.

"Good morning, Tom! I have to take some things to my sister in town today, but I haven't got a horse, as you know. Will you lend me your horse? I will bring it back this evening."

"I'm sorry," answered Tom. "If my horse was here, I would lend it to you, but it isn't."

"Oh?" said the woman. "It was here last night because I saw it under the tree in your garden. Where is it now?"

"My wife took it to town early this morning," answered Tom.

Just then the horse made a big noise.

"You're not telling the truth, Tom!" the woman said angrily. "I can hear your horse. You should tell the truth to your neighbour."

"Sure!" said Tom. "Is it good manners(礼仪) to believe a horse's word rather than(而不是) that of your own neighbour?"

The woman left without a word.
