Are you sorry for not traveling during National Day? If you stay at home at that time, I think you are very lucky. Why? Because there are too many people everywhere. In many places of interest in China, it's too crowded to do anything.

It was too crowded in the West Lake on October 1st, 2020. You even couldn't take photos for you or your friends. All we could see were people. It was reported (据报道) that there were about 13 people every meter by the lake. My friends told me they could see nothing but many tourists (游客) on the Broken Bridge. "We couldn't walk if the people in front of us didn't walk," he said. He showed us a photo near the West Lake. In the photo, we hardly found him, there were too many people.

So some people give the advice that we should not have the golden week(黄金周) any more. But other people say no about the advice. What's your idea of it? Are you sorry now for not traveling during the golden week? I love staying at home more than traveling next National Day.
