The summer holidays started. I would go to Los Angeles to visit my favorite aunt, Aunt Helen. Last year my dad drove my family and we spent a month there. This time I would go all by myself! I would take a plane for the first time! I was excited.

The plane was so big. I found my seat and sat down. Soon the plane took off (起飞). I got so scared. I wasn't comfortable and I even felt I would die.

A flight attendant (空乘人员) saw that I was afraid. She came over and asked, "Are you OK?" "I'm scared because this is my first plane trip." "Just relax and try to enjoy the view (风景)." she said. Then she brought me a cup of orange juice. After drinking it, I went to sleep. Then I heard, "It is sunny and 24°C in Los Angeles." I knew I was almost there.

As I went down the plane, I saw Aunt Helen waiting for me.

"Linda, did you enjoy your first plane trip?" asked Aunt Helen. "I did, but it was a little scary at first. A nice flight attendant helped me relax," I said. "I want to meet her again on my flight home."

"Oh, dear," said Aunt Helen. "You just got here, and we have a week of fun things to do. You can't go home too soon." I laughed out.

When a snowman melts, it leaves us a gift. What is that gift? Let's take a look at what happens to the snowman. It has to be warm outside for a snowman to melt. As the sun shines, it makes heat. We can't see heat, but we know it's there because we feel warm.

The snowman gets smaller and smaller as it melts, until we can't see it at all. Where did it go?

As the snowman melts, it turns into water. If you look carefully at snow, you'll see many small pieces of ice (called crystals). When they get warm, the crystals change from ice into water.

But where does the water from the snowman go? It goes into the ground. As the water goes into the ground, it finds lots of things that are thirsty. The water might find grass roots, flower bulbs, or tree roots.

So that's the snowman's gift—water!

Without water, we wouldn't have colorful flowers in spring. Without water, we wouldn't have green grass in summer. Without water, we wouldn't have strong, tall trees in fall. Water helps all of these things grow. The snowman's gift lasts all year.

- ( ) 36. What makes a snowman begin to melt?
A. The air becomes warm. B. The water turns into ice.
C. The ground makes heat. D. The weather becomes windy.
- ( ) 37. What happens when ice crystals get warm?
A. They make heat. B. They become small.
C. They turn into water. D. They go into the ground.
- ( ) 38. What might water find in the ground?
A. Tree roots. B. Green grass.
C. Ice crystals. D. Colorful flower.
- ( ) 39. Which of the following is TRUE?
A. A snowman helps many different things grow.
B. Melting snow helps give water to plants.
C. The sun does not make heat in winter.
D. Flowers are only colourful things in spring.

( ) 40. Which of the following is the best title of the passage?

A. The Secret of a Snowman.

B. How a Snowman Melts.

C. How to Build a Snowman.

D. The Snowman's Gift.

C

Today it is found that school students hardly pay much attention (注意) to sports. Is it because they aren't interested in sports? No. They often say they have other more important things to do.

What are these important things? Exams! They have to spend much time on all kinds of exams at school. So many of them almost become bookworms (书虫). Books stop them from going in for sports. Because of the pressure from their parents and teachers, the students have to work harder and spend most of their time on books. As for the students, they also want to get good grades. So it is necessary for them to give all of their free time to their studies and stop their school sports.

In fact, education can't go without physical exercises, because a quick mind hardly goes along with a weak (虚弱的) body. If you don't have a healthy body, you can never get anything let alone (更不用说) a great success in your life.

VII. 任务型阅读(共5小题,每小题2分,计10分)

阅读短文,并按要求完成61—65题。

How do you choose your friends, your pals, or even your partners? Do they show kindness and love for you? Do they care for others? Do they show love for life?

Each time we choose a friend, or a partner, we choose a part of our life or future. Bad friends are bad to your life and future. Don't let the wrong people turn you into the wrong person. Don't allow bad partners to waste your goodness and love for life. Don't follow those who would lead you to give up hope.

Life is very expensive, so you can't let bad friends waste it. Choose those who will help you grow in a positive manner as your playmates, your friends, and your partners. Make friends with those who show honesty, good character, and care for others. Share your life with those who show better themselves to their environment, their community, and this world.

Choosing your friendship is a lifetime work. Learn who you can believe. Learn who you can depend on when you are in trouble. Know who you feel comfortable with. And, the most important, know those who want to share happiness and friendship with you and the world.

61、62题完成句子;63题简略回答问题;64题找出并写下第二段的主题句;65题将文中画线句子译成汉语。
