V. 阅读理解 (共 10 分, 每小题 1 分)

根据短文内容从各题的 A、B、C、D 四个选项选择一个最佳答案。

Passage 1

Last year, I was on holiday with my daughter in Egypt. As both of us wanted to have more time to visit more places, I hired (租用) a car. On the first day, after driving for an hour on a quiet road to the pyramids (金字塔), our car started making a strange noise (噪音) and then it stopped working. We could not believe it.

I told myself maybe I could solve the problem if it was simple, but I quickly found that the problem was more serious than I thought. I looked around and hoped to find someone to help us, but there was no one. It was too hot and dry and we only had a little water with us. I started feeling helpless, being in a foreign country and unable to speak its language.

An hour later, a car appeared and the driver stopped to help us. Luckily, after a quick look, the man knew what was wrong with our car. Fifteen minutes later, he got it working. It was really exciting for us. I didn't know how to show my thanks to him. All I could say was "Shukran" in Arabic, the only word I learned before coming to the country. The man smiled (微笑) at us without saying a word, and then drove away.

Though our first day in Egypt didn't go very well, it still wasn't bad because of the kind man.

46. The writer's car stopped working ▲.

- A. because of the bad road
C. because of the hot weather

- B. on the last day of her trip
D. on her way to the pyramids

47. What does Paragraph 2 mainly tell us?

- A. Why the writer felt helpless.
C. What a bad car the writer hired.

- B. What food the writer wanted.
D. Why the writer went to another country.

48. What do we know about the man?

- A. He was the writer's friend.

- B. He could speak a second language.

- C. He solved the car problem for the writer.

- D. He gave the writer and her daughter a ride.

49. What does the underlined word "Shukran" probably mean in English?
 A. Sorry. B. Hello. C. Thank you. D. Goodbye.
50. What did the writer think of her first day in Egypt?
 A. Not special. B. Not bad. C. Fun. D. Fantastic.

Passage 2

"Last night, there were 20 elephants on my farm," John from Kenya said. "They ate all my crops (庄稼). What can I do?"

Elephants are lovely animals, but they brought serious problems for the farmers near Mount Kenya National Park. The elephants often left the park, went into the nearby farms, and ate their crops. So farmers slept on the farm. If elephants came, they scared them away.

However, the next day, the farmers were too tired to do their work. Then, someone thought of a better way. They built electric fences (电栅栏) to keep the elephants out. The farmers had more time for their work. But these fences were expensive to build.

"▲" a man from the government (政府) said. "The elephants had lived here for a very long time before people came. At some times of the year, elephants go from one place to another. They remember their old routes (路线), and they walk through anything that's there -- like a farm or even a house."

Now the government has a plan. It wants the people around the park to start tourism. People around the world love elephants. When more and more elephant-lovers come to visit Mount Kenya National Park, those farmers can make money by serving them.

The government hopes people and elephants will live together happily in this way.

51. The farmers slept on the farm to ▲.
 A. have fun B. save their crops
 C. look after elephants D. get good luck
52. Farmers stopped using electric fences because ▲.
 A. they were no use B. they were not good for elephants
 C. they were expensive D. they were dangerous for children
53. Which of the following can be put "▲" in the fourth paragraph?
 A. The elephants like people.
 B. The elephants were lazy in the past.
 C. The elephants were able to help people work on the farm.
 D. The elephants had problems when more people came to Mount Kenya National Park.
54. What does the underlined word "tourism" in the fifth paragraph mean in Chinese?
 A. 旅游业 B. 种植业 C. 制造业 D. 畜牧业
55. What's the best title for the passage?
 A. Elephants are in danger B. The future of Kenyan farmers
 C. A big park in Kenya D. Kenya faces a problem

Passage 3

Li Wenjun is a 34-year-old Chinese teacher at a middle school in Lanzhou, Gansu Province. It took her one and a half years to teach at the Hanji Junior Middle School in Gansu Province.

When Li Wenjun first got there, she found that many of her students had problems with their schoolwork. To learn more about her students, she prepared to interview (采访) them. She got a small notebook and a pen and sat down to talk to them one by one like friends and wrote down information about them. Her frankness (直率) soon opened the door to their hearts. They started to trust her and share everything in their hearts with her. In this way, she built a good relationship with her students.

Li Wenjun's classes are so interesting, all of her students like them. After class, she often asked students to go to her office and gave them some good advice on how to learn Chinese. With the help of Li Wenjun, all of her students improved their Chinese a lot. What a kind teacher!
