My father is a strong fisherman. He loved the sea and would stay out until he caught enough to 16 the family.

When we met bad weather, he would drive me to school with his old truck. And he would bend over and give me a 17 on the face and then tell me to be a good boy. I always felt uncomfortable in front of so many other schoolmates. I was already a twelve-year old young man, but my father still kissed me goodbye!

Then on a rainy day I decided to tell him my feeling. When we stopped at the school gate, the 18 big smile appeared on my father's face. I 19 what would happen next. I 20 put my hand up and for the first time said "No" to him. The smile on his face immediately changed into a 21 look. He looked at me for a long time and tears began to appear in his eyes. I was shocked. I had never seen him cry! Then he said, "You're right. You are a big boy... a man. I won't kiss you any longer".

Not long after that, my father went to sea on a bad day. 22 of the fishermen stayed at home, but not Dad, because he had a big family to support. But after that day, he never came back. Later his boat was found with his nets half in and half out. He must have 23 a strong wind and was trying to save the nets.

24 I wished I had not refused my father's kiss! And from this I have learned that we should take every chance with our family and friends as the 25 one in our lives. We can have few regrets(后悔)by doing so.

The year was 1932. Amelia Earhart was flying alone from North America to England in a small single—engined aeroplane（单引擎飞机）. At midnight, several hours after she had left Newfoundland, she ran into bad weather. To make things worse, her altimeter（高度表）failed and she didn’t know how high she was flying. At night, and in a storm, a pilot is in great difficulty without an altimeter. At times, her plane nearly rushed（冲）into the sea.

Just before dawn, there was further trouble. Amelia noticed flames（火焰）coming from the engine. Would she be able to reach land? There was nothing to do except to keep going and to hope.

In the end, Amelia Earhart did reach Ireland, and for the courage she had shown, she was warmly welcomed in England and Europe. When she returned to the United States, she was honored by President Hoover at a special dinner in the White House. From that time on, Amelia Earhart was famous.

What was so important about her flight? Amelia Earhart was the first woman to fly the Atlantic Ocean alone, and she had set a record of fourteen hours and fifty—six minutes.

In the years that followed, Amelia Earhart made several flights across the United States, and on each occasion（时刻）she set a new record for flying time. Amelia Earhart made these flights to show that women had a place in aviation（航空）and that air travel was useful.

C

You probably see a lot of things made of plastic, like bottles and bags, every day. What happens when that plastic gets thrown away? Scientists say much of it ends up in oceans and causes problems for creatures（生物）like fish and birds.

“Plastic puts ocean creatures in danger,” says Allison Schutes of the Ocean Conservancy. That's a group that works to protect the world's oceans.

A recent study shows that each minute, enough plastic reaches the ocean to fill up one garbage（垃圾）truck! That same study predicts（预测）that by the year 2050, our oceans will have more plastic than fish.

All that plastic is bad news for ocean life. Some ocean creatures die when they get tangled（使缠结）in pieces of plastic. Others accidentally eat it and die, too.

Most scientists say taking out all the plastic that's already in the ocean would be impossible. Instead, they say the best way is to prevent more plastic from getting there.

Many groups are already taking action. They organize cleanups on beaches to pick up litter before it reaches the ocean. ▲, volunteers from the Ocean Conservancy collected more than 16 million pounds of it last year!

Experts also encourage people to use less plastic. Many cities and towns in America have banned plastic shopping bags. Experts also suggest that people drink out of reusable bottles and try reusable shopping bags.

“These seem like small things,” says Schutes, “but they can help make a big difference.”

46. It is predicted that in about 35 years, there will be .

- A. no fish in the oceans
- B. no plastic on the beaches
- C. more plastic than fish in the oceans
- D. more reusable shopping bags than plastic ones

47. How many examples are given to show plastic is dangerous to ocean creatures?

- A. One.
- B. Two.
- C. Three.
- D. Four.

48. Which of the following can be put in ▲

- A. At first.
- B. All in all.
- C. To be honest.
- D. For example.

49. What does the underlined word “banned” mean in Chinese?

- A. 生产
- B. 发明
- C. 销售
- D. 禁止

50. Which is the best title for the passage?

- A. A sea of plastic
- B. Litter in towns and cities
- C. Ocean creatures in danger
- D. A group that protects oceans

Man is a land animal, but he is also closely tied to the sea. Throughout history the sea has served the needs of man. The sea has provided man with food and a convenient way to travel to many parts of the world. Today, nearly two—thirds of the world’s population live within 80 kilometers of the sea coast.

In the modern technological world, the sea offers many resources（资源）to help mankind survive (=continue to live). Resources on land are beginning to be used up. The sea, however, still can be hoped to supply many of man’s needs.

The list of riches of the sea yet to be developed by man’s technology is impressive. Oil and gas explorations（探险）have been carried out for nearly 30 years. Valuable amounts of minerals（矿物）exist on the ocean floor ready to be mined（开采）.

Fish farming promises to be a good way to produce large quantities of food. The culture of fish and shellfish（贝类动物）is an ancient skill practised in the past mainly by Oriental people.

Besides oil and gas, the sea may offer new sources of energy. Experts believe that the warm temperature of the ocean can be used in a way similar to the steam（蒸汽）in a steamship. Ocean currents（水流）and waves offer possible use as a source of energy.

Technology is enabling man to explore even more deeply under the sea. The development of strong, new materials has made this possible.

The technology to harvest the sea continues to improve. Experts believe that by the year 2050 the problems that prevent us from exploiting（开发）fully the food, minerals, and energy sources of the sea will be largely solved.
