第三部分 阅读理解(共三节,满分 35 分)

第一节 (共 5 小题;每小题 1.5 分,满分 7.5 分)

根据短文内容,判断正误(正确“T”,错误“F”),并将所选答案涂到答题卡的相应位置上。

Bears are found in Europe, Asia and America. They're strong, and they have short tails and thick legs. Bears eat almost anything. Only polar bears (北极熊) feed on fish. But at zoos, they seem to enjoy meat, vegetables, fruit, milk and rice.

Bears aren't as dangerous as people think. Like most other animals, they'll do their best to keep away from people. But bears aren't really afraid of people. They killed many people who wanted to kill them in the past years.

Bears can smell far but they cannot see far. They cannot hear clearly, but they're very clever. They can live on roots (根), frogs, fish and also small insects. Sometimes, they kill deer (鹿) and other large animals, but they seem to enjoy small ones like ants and bees.

In their living places, bears sleep from October to April. Before they start to sleep, they eat a lot and become very fat. The mother bear has babies then. The babies are blind when they're born. A bear is much cleverer than a cat and most other animals. You may see at the zoo how clever they are when they ask for food from people. They sit up and hold out their "hands" like men. You have to teach a dog to do so, but bears can learn this by themselves.

46. Bears have long tails and thick legs.
47. A bear has the ability to see far.
48. Bears sleep nearly 7 months in their living places.
49. A baby bear can't see anything at birth.
50. Bears eat nothing before they start to sleep in winter.

第二节 (共 10 小题; 每小题 2 分,满分 20 分)

根据短文内容,从题中所给的 A、B、C、D 四个选项中,选出最佳选项,并将所选答案涂到答题卡的相应位置上。

A

Robert was a very nice boy. He was always happy in his life and he never seemed angry. Both his teachers and his classmates thought highly of him.

One day, Mr. Smith wondered why he was so happy every day. The teacher visited him. Robert showed his teacher around the house. When Robert opened his bedroom door, the teacher got a surprise to see the wall. It was a wall collage (拼贴画) of different colors and shapes!

"Some students at school think I never think badly of anyone," Robert said, "but that isn't true at all. I'm just like anyone else. In the past, I got angrier easily than the other children. But later with the help of my father, I started a small collage. I wrote some bad words on each picture. This is how I started turning all my bad times into a chance to laugh. When someone makes me angry, I can't be happier. They give me a new piece for my works of art."

On that very day, Mr. Smith started his collage. He also recommended it to his students. A few years later, each house in that town has wonderful works of art, made by each happy child. And people call it "Art Town".

B

Many people in the world love reading books very much. In Germany, most people are fond of reading. They always read in their free time. You can find many Germans always take a bag with them and they have one or two books in their bags. They take them out and do some reading as long as they have time. They read not only at home and in the libraries, but also on the train, on the subway, on the bus and so on.

There's a bookstore nearly at each train, subway and bus station. In some big shopping centers, you can see some bookstores, too. There are many people reading or buying books in these places. So there you can see many parents and their children choose books that they like.

In Germany, parents have set a good example for their children. They do some reading every day. They read books for their children when they're very young. As children grow up, parents always read with them. So children have a great interest in books. Books are their closest companions (最亲密的伙伴). Now you can know why Germans enjoy reading. Because they had a good reading habit in their childhood.

Some young people from Minneapolis are doing something to help others. 61

One day, Kamryn Johnson and her friends were bored so they made some bracelets (手链) for fun. Kamryn's mom said it would be nicer to do something good for others. And the children thought Kamryn's mom was right. 62 And then the meaningful bracelets were born.

The children started to sell bracelets on May 30. “She made over $ 800 on the first day,” Kamryn’s dad said. “ 63 ” Though the price of a bracelet was $ 5, many people would like to pay more to support these children.

What did the children do with the money? Some small shops were closed because of the outbreak (爆发) of COVID-19. 64 The children used the money to help the owners get through the difficult time.

- A. The owners couldn't make money to support their shops.
