I still remember how I felt when I first came to this school. Far away from my house, without friends around, I felt so lonely. I needed friends, but it seemed that everyone was busy with their lessons. They had no time for me. During the breaks, I usually sat inside the classroom and the others went out to the playground for sports. One Wednesday afternoon, I sat in the classroom silently as usual. Suddenly, someone came into the classroom.

“Hey! Shouldn't you be on the playground and playing with them?” a beautiful voice asked.

Looking up, I saw a beautiful girl with a smile on her face.

“I'm Julie. Let's go for volleyball together.”

At once, I felt my world full of sunshine. So, Julie became my first friend in the new school.

Dear Tony,

I'm glad to hear from you. It's been a year since I wrote to you last time. And I have changed a lot.

Firstly, I am a little taller and I weigh a little more. Secondly, my English has improved a lot. I got a high mark in the lastest test. I read English for half an hour every morning and do my English homework carefully every afternoon. I used to be afraid of having English lessons, but now I'm active in English classes. Thirdly, I like my school more and more. My teachers are nice and my friends are friendly. Finally, I'm more outgoing and active than before. You know, I used to be shy and quiet and afraid to talk to others. But now I am used to playing sports every day and I can communicate with people around me better.

In a word, I have become better and better. How about you?

Yours,
Li Hua
