Are you afraid of failure? If your answer is "Yes", I am sorry to say, "You are 31."

In fact, failure is the best teacher. We can 32 a lot from it. For every successful thing, there have been one or more 33. You do need to accept failure if you want to achieve success. Think about the 34 of the light bulb. It was successful after a thousand failures. Think if the inventor Edison had given up after he 35 a hundred times, what would the result have been? You won't have had the bulbs today.

When your hard work doesn't bring wanted results, don't call it failure, call it a 36. What is the difference 37 these two things? Failure is negative, and challenge is positive. What you need is positive thinking to achieve success. Failure means there is no way out, no 38. However, a challenge is a question mark leading to another situation, and there are many good choices for you to choose.

Always remember: if you cannot fly, run; if you cannot run, walk; if you cannot walk, crawl; just keep on 39. Keeping moving is the key to success. Whenever you 40 over, you have to stand up and start moving again.

Last winter, a school boy's story warmed everyone's heart. The boy's name is Sheng Xiaohan. He is a Grade 1 student in Shanghai Gezhi High School. Thanks to the 15-year-old boy, an old man's life was saved.

At about 9 pm on October 27, 2020, Sheng was on his way home from school when he saw a group of men standing around a person. He walked over and found an old man lying on the ground. The old man had a heart disease. Sheng learned some first-aid-skill at school, so he decided to help the old man. He did CPR(心肺复苏术) on the old man for about 5 minutes. The old man started to breathe again before doctors arrived to take him to a hospital. The old man was saved. Two days later, he went home safely.

Sheng didn't tell his name to anyone. However, some people saw the logo(标志) on the boy's school uniform(制服).

On December 16, the old man visited Gezhi High School and said thanks to Sheng. "I just did what I should do," Sheng said. "When people need help, I'll lend a hand."

The head teacher asked all the students to learn from him and he is really a role model.

The Silk Road is a historically important international trade route between China and the Mediterranean(地中海). It began during the Western Han Dynasty and has been a bridge between East and West for over 2,000 years.

The Silk Road got its name in the 19th century because Chinese silk used to be carried along this road. Silk, jade, ceramics and iron went west to Rome. And from the west came glass, gems and food like carrots.

The Silk Road was very important to both China and the rest of the world. It was more than an ancient international trade route. Besides trade, knowledge about art science and literature, as well as crafts and technologies was shared across the Silk Road. In this way, languages and cultures developed and influenced(影响) each other.

Today, China is trying to build the "21st Century Marine(海洋的) Silk Road". With the help of APEC held in Beijing in November 2014, the dream of One Belt One Road (the "Silk Road Economic(经济的) Belt" and "21st Century Marine Silk Road") ("一带一路") is coming true.

- D. relationship

48. The Silk Road began _____.

- A. in the 19th century
- B. in the 18th century
- C. during the Western Han Dynasty
- D. during the Eastern Han Dynasty

49. Why was it named the Silk Road?

- A. Because Chinese silk was carried along this road.
- B. Because Chinese silk was made along this road.
- C. Because things were traded from market to market along this road.
- D. Because the ancient traders bought and sold things along this road.

50. It can be inferred(推断) from this passage that _____.

- A. the Silk Road was only an ancient international trade route
- B. many new silk roads have been built by the Chinese government so far
- C. the Silk Road was a very important line of communication connecting(连接) East and West
- D. the Silk Road prevented the development of languages and cultures between East and West

Ⅶ. 任务型阅读: 阅读下面短文, 根据短文内容, 完成下列各题。(共5小题, 计10分)

In the past, many students practiced English with their pen friends—they sent letters to people all around the world. However, we now send emails to others and chat with people who live quite far away on the Internet.

Here's some advice on how to succeed in your online language exchanges (交流):

How to start a conversation when speaking English online? When you speak to somebody online, start by asking "Yes or No" questions. Use questions such as "Do you like...?" or "Can you...?" or "Have you ever...?"

Remember your goal. You are trying to learn about the other person. Think about things you enjoy and share your own experiences to find that you have similar interests. If you only ask questions, you will sound like a policeman or a policewoman!

How to keep a conversation going? Listen carefully. In that way, you can get to know somebody well. When you know him or her well, you will have more to talk about. Then ask follow-up questions. After you "listen", use what you "hear" to learn more about that person. Use "open ended" questions, such as "What do you think of...?" or "What was the most interesting experience...?"

Besides, remember some basic rules for online language exchanges:

Be patient. Do not try to find a good friend right away.

Be careful. Don't give any personal information on the Internet, especially your address, telephone number, and even your real name. It's very dangerous.

71. How many pieces of advice does the writer give us?

72. Who did many students practice English with in the past?

They practiced English with _____.

73. What should you do in order to find similar interests?

We should think about things we enjoy and _____.

74. What does the writer think of giving personal information online?

It's _____.

75. What does the writer want to tell us?

The writer wants to tell us _____.

Ⅷ. 补全对话(共5小题, 计5分)

根据下面对话中的情境,在每个空中填入一个适当的语句,使对话恢复完整。

A: Hello, Hardy, you look sad. 76. _____?

B: I failed in the English exam again. My parents are very mad at me.

A: Really? Don't be sad. What do you think is difficult in your English study?

B: Oh, it's hard to say. In fact, I have the problem in listening. I feel people speak too fast! I can't understand. The grammar also troubles me.

A: 77. _____! You'd better improve them step by step.

B: Any good ideas? I know you are good at English. Can you help me with my listening?

A: 78. _____. You can improve your listening by listening to some English songs and famous speeches. If you keep trying, you'll make great progress in it.

B: 79. _____?

A: If you can't understand anything, don't be shy to ask your classmates or teacher for help. Then you can understand it much better.

B: Oh, that's a good idea. What about grammar?

A: You'd better understand the sentence structures. Remember them in your mind and use them in your daily life.

B: 80. _____. I'll try my best.
