Daniel	Summer is the best season. I like the beach and the sun. I often play outdoor games in summer. Winter is not a good season, I think. There is nothing good but cold.
Sandy	Any season is okay but winter. I don't like cold; I don't like snow; and I really don't like having to wear a coat. In winter everything is white. I miss the green.
Amy	In spring, temperatures are nice. I'm excited to fish because the winter is gone. I also like summer because I can go swimming in my big pool. And the baseball season starts. I will have a good time for this wonderful game.
Peter	Summer is too hot and winter is too cold. Spring is okay but we get some heavy rains. So autumn is my favourite season. It has warm days and cool nights. The leaves are turning to very beautiful colours; the birds are flying, trying to find lots of food; apples are fresh.

VIII. 任务型阅读。(共 5 小题; 每小题 2 分, 满分 10 分)

阅读下面短文, 按要求完成 51~55 题。

Do you like hitting the books? It doesn't mean you like beating (打) your books with your hands. It just means that you are studying hard. You can learn a lot when you hit the books. Before exams, many students spend (花费) a lot of time hitting the books to get good grades.

Expressions (表达) like this are called idioms (习语). They are an important part of a culture's language. Language and culture are closely connected. One example of an idiom in the Chinese language is "dui niu tan qin". It means someone speaks or writes without thinking about his audience (听众).

Many idioms begin with the word "hit". "Hit the road" means "to leave or to go". You can say, "Hey, I need to hit the road. Can we talk about this another time?" or "It's time to hit the road." When you are tired and you want to go to bed, you can say, "I need to hit the hay (干草)." It means you want to go to sleep. That's because a bed was often a big bag with hay inside many years ago.

Idioms make your language interesting. Let's hit the books to learn some and try to use them.
