My earliest memories of writing are only school homework, nothing of any creativity. All that 56 one day, when Mrs. Kumar asked us to write “an autobiography (自传) of a pencil”.

For me, it was just another piece of homework, 57 Mrs. Kumar reacted (反应) very differently. Maybe she was just being 58, or maybe she really liked the work. Whatever her 59 were, she read it out to the class as an example of “fine writing”.

A few years later, I went back to my 60 school. I was walking through the familiar hallway when I 61 Mrs. Kumar, who was still teaching her class. She looked up as I passed and I waved, not wanting to disturb her.

Seeing me, she went out and invited me into her class. “This girl is one of the best 62 in this school I have seen,” she said. “She wrote a 63 autobiography of a pencil. I hope some of you can learn to write like her.”

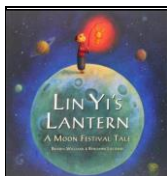

Even after all these years, I can still 64 remember that moment. My face shines with 65 whenever I tell someone this experience. I am sure I was not the only student whose school homework Mrs. Kumar 66. It is likely (可能的) that she tried her best to make each one of us feel 67. However, nobody praised (表扬) my writing before that. It encouraged me to do better to prove (证明) to her that “Look! Your 68 in me has worked. I am good, because you believe I am.”

Today, I am a successful writer. Thanks to Mrs. Kumar, my 69 are not only tool (工具) to use. They are also symbols of little beginnings and the power of a 70 encouragement.

I started using a wheelchair(轮椅) when I was a little kid. In primary school, I never felt different or lonely. I did many activities. I even performed dances in my wheelchair and won prizes. However, in my heart I still hoped that I could walk like other kids.

One day my parents told me that an operation(手术) might help realize my dream. When I went into the operating room, I was hopeful. I closed my eyes, and the world changed around me. After my operation, I was in so much pain that I got really upset. I even wanted to give up my lifelong dream---walking.

Later I went to an inpatient rehabilitation center(住院病人康复中心), along with my mom. At first, I didn't like it there. My life was like a river that never stops, with all kinds of rehabilitation exercises and doctor visits. There was so much I couldn't do, like playing at the nearby playground when my dad and brother visited. And it was hard to make friends. As my body healed, things began to improve.

Recently, I've made big progress, like being able to stand for five minutes. I feel hopeful again and am dreaming again---I want to be a good example for disabled kids to follow. I also joined in the Just Say Hi, an activity to encourage everyone not to be afraid to say hello to disabled people.

This experience has changed me a lot. It made me as strong as diamonds(钻石) and my dreams as high as Qomolangma. Here I just want to use my story to share the following message: stay strong, never give up, and if you can dream it, you can do it.

根据短文内容，选择最佳答案。(5分)

76. When the writer was in primary school, he _____.
A. often felt lonely B. had several operations
C. won prizes for dancing D. started using a wheelchair

A. 康复 B. 放松 C. 伸展 D. 消瘦
79. Recently the writer _____.
A. was able to walk B. bought a diamond
C. climbed Qomolangma D. joined in the Just Say Hi
80. The writer writes the passage mainly to _____.
A. thank his doctor B. thank his parents
C. spread a hopeful message D. record an unforgettable memory

(C)

There are many kinds of amazing animals in the world. Have you ever watched one of them—Canada geese (雁)? They can teach us a lesson about teamwork (合作).

In autumn, Canada geese have to fly to the warm south to get away from Canada's cold winter. When they leave the ground and rise into the air, they fly in no order. Then they quickly form a V shape, with one bird leading the group.

The V shape allows Canada geese to save energy. The head bird moves its wings (翅膀) up and down. The resulting (产生的) force of the air helps lift the next bird. Each bird will do so until they get to the southern part. The bird at the head of the group has the hardest job. When it gets tired, another bird moves to the front and takes its place (代替它). By sharing this job, the group can travel great distances. Canada geese flying in a V shape can fly seventy percent farther without having a rest than the birds flying alone.

During the long flying journey, Canada geese communicate with one another. They honk (鸣叫) to encourage the birds up front to keep up the speed. They also cheer one another up while working toward the same destination (目的地).

What have we learned from the lovely Canada geese's experience and skills?

Work together! Whether in our personal lives or our jobs, we need the spirit of teamwork!
根据短文内容, 判断句子正 (T)、误 (F)

81. Because of Canada's cold winter, Canada geese have to fly to the warm south in autumn.
82. When the head bird gets tired, another bird moves to the front and becomes a new head bird.
83. Canada geese flying in a V shape can fly seventeen percent farther without having a rest than the birds flying alone.
84. During the long flying journey, Canada geese hardly cheer one another up while working toward the same destination.
85. From this passage, we've learned that the spirit of teamwork is important to us.

(D)

Now students' English handwriting (书写) gets worse and worse. That makes their teachers feel worried. Is your English handwriting beautiful? 86

Use paper with lines

When you write English words or sentences, you can use paper with lines. That will make your handwriting straight. 87 Be sure to fill the lined space completely. And make sure those capital letters (大写字母) are written properly.

Slow down

If your writing is hard to read, just slow down a little. 88 If you write too quickly, it's hard for you to stop where you should, and you may make more mistakes easily.

89

When you hold your pencil in the correct way, writing is much better. Some kids press down really hard and when they write. That makes the handwriting bad. Try to be relaxed and don't hold the pencil so hard. Let your writing appear nice and clean. If you do so, people will guess you are a student with a good habit.

Draw more pictures

90 While you are drawing pictures, you need to use the skills to control (控制) your pencil better. Even though you have no chance to draw at school, you can practice by drawing at home.

Handwriting is very important. Imagine you are a famous movie star or a well-known sports player, what do you do when your fans run up to you? Give them your autographs (亲笔签名), of course!

从方框中选择恰当的句子补全短文, 使文章内容完整、通顺。(5分)

- A. If not, here are four steps that really work!
B. Hold your pencil right.
C. Drawing can improve your handwriting.
D. Going slower makes your handwriting clearer.
E. Those lines on the paper can help you to write words in the right size.

Long long ago, there was a king who was very smart and kind. But he only had one leg and one eye. Everyone lived a happy and healthy life because of the king. One day the king was walking through the Palace hallway and saw the paintings of ancestors (祖先). He thought that one day his children would also walk in the same hallway and remember all the ancestors through these paintings. He wanted his children to remember him, too. So he invited many famous artists to his palace.

All of the artists began to think about the king's physical disabilities(生理缺陷). How could his painting be made very beautiful? It was not possible. They weren't sure what his painting would be like. So one by one, they all started to politely refuse to make a painting of the king. But suddenly one artist raised his hand and said he would make a very nice painting of the king. The king became happy hearing that. Then the artist started painting. After 2 months, the painting was ready. When the artist showed the painting, everyone was shocked. In the painting, the king was sitting on a horse, on the one-leg side, holding his bow (弓) and aiming (瞄准) something with his one eye closed. The king was very happy and gave the artist lots of money to thank him.

As we all know, no one is perfect. So we should try to focus on(关注) others' advantages(优点) instead of their disadvantages. From the artist we can learn that taking an optimistic(乐观的) view of the event is the key to dealing with problems.

根据文章内容，回答下列问题。(10 分)

91. What did the king see in the palace hallway?
92. Why did the king invite artists to draw a painting of him?
93. When was the painting ready?
94. How did the other artists feel when the artist showed the painting?
95. What can we learn from the artist?
