(B) The Lantern Festival is one of the most important festivals in China. Chinese people celebrate the Lantern Festival on the fifteenth day of the first lunar month. It usually comes in February. Chinese people eat a special kind of food called sweet dumplings. On that day, people go out to watch colorful lanterns and guess lantern riddles with their family members. At night, people set off fireworks for fun. It's really interesting. Chinese people will also watch lantern shows and dragon dances to pray for health and happiness for the whole year. It makes me feel happy, because all the Chinese people can spend the happiest time with family members.
