Scientists like to study weather. One of the main reasons is that many places in our world are becoming hotter and the weather is becoming stranger. Unluckily, we may not be able to predict. Why? The weather on our planet is so difficult to understand.

Here is an example of our world's strange weather. One Roman man wrote about frogs(青蛙) raining from skies almost 2,000 years ago. Can this be true? Yes, it can. And , not only can frogs "rain", but also fish and other small animals. This can sometimes happen when a storm(暴风雨) brings very big winds which blow over the tops of oceans(海洋) or lakes. Small frogs and fish are not very heavy, so the winds can take them to the skies and then they come back down with the rain.

The frog rain is not new in many places. In 2005, people in the European country of Serbia walked out of their homes after a storm, and couldn't believe their eyes. A lot of frogs were trying to jump back to water. The Huffington Post, an online news service, tells more places in the world where this has happened.

If you are interested to see what "raining frogs" looks like, you can go to watch the movie Magnolia. It shows a large number of frogs falling down in a small town in the USA.

51. What is the underlined word "predict" in Paragraph1 mean in Chinese?

     A. 预测   B. 消耗   C. 变化

52. According to Paragraph 3, how did the Serbian people feel when they walked out of the door?

     A. Happy.   B. Surprised.   C. Afraid.

53. What do we know about the movie Magnolia?

     A. It is an action movie.   B. One can watch raining frogs in it.   C. It came out in 2005.

54. We can know the reason for raining frogs from Paragraph_____ .

     A.2   B. 3   C. 4

55. Why does the writer write this passage?

     A. To let us care about the weather.   B. To ask us to save the environment.

     C. To tell us things about the strange weather.

作文（计15分）

One possible version:

Dear Li Hua,

Thanks for your letter. I am sorry to hear that you are in trouble now.

Don't worry. Let me give you some advice. Playing computers is very interesting, but if you play too much, you will waste a lot of time, and you will hardly have time to do your homework. So the first step is to give up playing computer games, and then you may be interested in other things, like music or sports. Exercising more will be helpful to your health. You should also study harder. I think if you keep working hard, you will have a great time at school with your good friends.
