Xinghua School Reading Club Report

September 2021

Introduction

The Xinghua School Reading Club was five years old last month so we decided to make a survey to find out what students think about it. We are sorry to report that membership of our club has fallen in recent years. As Picture 1 shows, only 85 students are members this year.

More findings

We talked to students from Grade 1 to Grade 3 to try to find out why they did not want to join the Reading Club. They gave many different answers, but as Picture 2 shows, the most common reason was that they were not interested in books.

16% of students said they were not interested in the activities of our Reading Club, so we asked students which activities they enjoyed during last year's Reading Week. These results are shown in Picture 3.

It was clear from these results that the booklover competition was very popular. One student said that we should have a book test with teams from each class. The winning team could compete against teams from other schools. Some students said that they prefer reading books that have been made into movies, such as Harry Potter.

Suggestions

We should try to increase the membership of Xinghua School Reading Club. We can do this by organizing more fun activities, such as competitions. We can also raise students' interest in reading by sharing books that are also movies. We should also make sure that our activities do not influence those of other school clubs and teams.

With the Tokyo Summer Olympics behind us, people are turning their eyes to the 2022 Beijing Winter Olympic Games, which will start in five months. Freestyle skier (自由式滑雪运动员) Gu Ailing, 18, looks to be one of the superstars of the event.

Born to an American father and a Chinese mother, Gu decided to compete for China in the 2022 Winter Olympics in June 2019. Just two months later, she bagged her first gold medal(奖牌) for China at the Australia New Zealand Cup. Her strength continued to grow as she won one bronze (铜牌) and two gold medals at the International Ski Federation (FIS) Snowboard and Freeski World Championships in March, 2021.

People say she is talented. But Gu says that talent counted for “only 1 percent” of her wins, adding that her hard work is what counts. While going to school in San Francisco, Gu could only practice on weekends. She spent eight hours going to the ski hill and back, doing her homework on the way and making full use of her time at the hill to practice skiing.

Gu said she wants to encourage more girls in China to try skiing and other extreme sports (极限运动), many of which have only been known there for 20 years, according to the Olympics website. She said skiing gives her “freedom and creativity”, especially when she perfectly controls her body and does tricks that others cannot do.

Now she is preparing for the Winter Olympics as a full-time athlete. “Of course I want to win medals and even golds,” Gu said. “But what’s more important is to bring out my own style, enjoy the game and love the sport.”

Museums are magical places where history is kept alive. Ancient relics (遗物) and national treasures are proudly on show for everybody. One of the oldest public museums in the world is the British Museum in London.

The British Museum is famous for its rich collection. People from around the world come to admire some of the greatest treasures in the world. From 2,000-year-old war helmets to classical Greek vases and Roman sculptures (雕塑), history follows us into the present.

Interestingly, the whole history of the British Museum started with a gift. An Irish man named Sir Hans Sloane had collected many wonderful things over the years, including old coins, medals and drawings. Before he died, he wanted these treasures to be stored. So, he handed them over to the king, and in 1753, the museum was created.

In its early days, about 5,000 people visited every year. Before the COVID-19 pandemic, around 6 million people flooded into the museum, according to the British Museum’s website. Also, one in four foreign visitors to London would visit the museum. It has been the most visited attraction (景点) in the UK for many years. Its popularity makes the British Museum a British landmark.

(D)

Do you often find yourself with your eyes stuck to a TV, a computer or a cell phone? Are you so distracted (分心) by these objects that you forget what time it is?

76

The study from the National Sleep Foundation (国家睡眠基金会) in the US shows that the use of electronics, such as TVs and cell phones, before bedtime increases the chance of a bad night's sleep.

Researchers say that the light from those electronics at night may make you excited before you go to bed. 77

According to the survey, about 95 percent of Americans between the ages of 13 and 64 use electronics before bed. 78

Among them, more and more young people—especially those under 20—are using cell phones and laptops right before bed.

79

Regular (定期的) exercise, and follow a regular sleeping schedule. Besides, researchers strongly advise you to turn off cell phones, TVs, and all other screens as soon as the sun goes down.

I had spent an hour in the bank with my dad to transfer (转帐) some money. I asked him, "Dad, why not use online banking?"

"Why would I do that?" He replied.

"Well, then you won't have to spend an hour here to transfer your money. You can do your shopping online. Everything will be easier!" I was excited to try to persuade (说服) my father to use online banking.

He asked, "If I do that, I won't have to step out of the house?"

"Yes!" I said. I told him how even large things like cars or computers can be delivered (递送) to our doors now and how SF (顺丰速运) delivers everything.

However, his answer left me tongue-tied. He said, "Since I walked into this bank today, I have met four of my friends and I have chatted a while with the staff (员工). I have plenty of spare time, so I like to come to the bank. Two years ago, when I was seriously hurt, the store owner from whom I buy fruit came to see me. Besides, when your mom fell down a few days ago, the bank manager saw her and helped her get to the hospital.”

He continued, “Why would I want to stare at my computer all the time? I like to know the person that I’m dealing with and not just the ‘seller’. Does SF deliver bonds (情感纽带) and relationships as well?”

I was silent after hearing his words. My dad was right, of course. We shouldn’t depend so much on technology. It’s better to spend time with real people.

根据短文内容, 回答下列问题。(10 分)

81. How long did it take the writer and his father to transfer the money?
82. What did the writer advise his father to do?
83. Who helped the writer’s mother when she fell down?
