We might usually see this scene in science fiction or movies: people are traveling between cities in tubes. The tube trains are even faster than planes, and people arrive at their destinations in minutes. Well, one big step was taken to make this happen.

On May 11, 2018, the first open air test of the pro-pulsion system (推进系统) for a tube train, which is called the Hyperloop, took place in the Nevada desert, US. The system went from 0 to 169 kilometers per hour in slightly over a second.

But this isn't the final goal. Elon Musk, founder of the US space company Space X, first had the idea for the Hyperloop in 2013. He wants passengers to travel in low-pressure tubes, propelled(推进) by magnets(磁铁), at a speed of around 1,200 kilometers per hour. The average speed of Boeing airplanes is 800 to 1,100 kilometers per hour.

Musk calls the Hyperloop the fifth main kind of transportation for humans, after ships, cars, trains and planes. According to him, the Hyperloop is safe, produces fewer greenhouse gases and can work in any weather.

But right now Hyperloop One is still far away from its final product. One major problem about making the inter-city Hyperloop a reality is that it could cost too much. "They're up against airlines, and airlines don't need to build hundreds of miles of tubes," said Jose Gomez-Ibanez, a professor of urban planning at Harvard University, US. So we will have to wait and see.

- () 56. The underlined word "destinations" means _____.
A. a place to arrive B. a place to set out
C. a place to stop D. a place to continue
- () 57. Elon Musk first had the idea for the Hyperloop _____.
A. in 2015 B. in 2014 C. in 2013 D. in 2012
- () 58. _____ is the fourth main kind of transportation.
A. The ship B. The car C. The plane D. The Hyperloop
- () 59. Which of the following is NOT true about the Hyperloop?
A. It is safe.
B. It can produce fewer greenhouse gases.
C. It can work in any weather.
D. Its highest speed is 1,000 kilometers per hour.
- () 60. One of the shortcomings (缺点) of the inter-city Hyperloop is that
A. its speed is too slow B. it costs too much money
C. it isn't as safe as the plane D. it can't carry too many passengers

During summer vacation, I went on a three-day camping trip. On the 66, we had to carry all of our own clothes, food and some medicine.

67 the first day, our teacher taught us how to read maps. It's not difficult to understand maps. 68, it was very difficult for us to walk with a 13-kg backpack under the sun. Each of us 69 two big bottles of water to drink as well.

On the second day, we had to find 70 own way to the next campsite (营地). My group set off at 9 a.m. But soon we got 71! Luckily, each group had a tracker (跟踪器). Using it, our teachers could see 72 we were. We were quickly found and got back on the right way. We finally got to the camp at 7 a.m. After walking 25 km over 10 hours, I felt very 73.

On the third day, we easily went back to the car park where our teacher was 74 for us.

I learned so much from this trip - not just map reading skills, but also teamwork and how to 75 with problems. It pushed me to achieve something that I never thought I could do.

六、读写综合（本大题分为A、B两部分，共25分）

A. 回答问题（本题有5小题，每小题2分，共10分）

请阅读下面这篇文章，根据所提供的信息，回答5个问题。要求所写答案语法正确、语义完整，并把答案写在答题卡指定的位置。

I asked three of my friends how they had changed since they came to our middle school. And here are their answers.

|-------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Robin | I didn't do well in my study before, but since I began to study in this school, things have changed. The teachers here are all energetic, active and helpful. They always encourage me by saying "I'm sure you can make it" or "You are one of the cleverest students I have ever met". These words really mean a lot to me. Now I'm one of the top students in my class, and I like studying as well. |
| Dick | I used to be a fat boy who could hardly run 500 meters. When entered the middle school, my father worried that I would be laughed at by my new classmates. So he decided to do morning exercises with me every day. It really worked. Now I run and exercise in the morning, and I am slim and strong. Besides, I got the first prize in the School Running Competition last month. I think I can be a good runner in the future! |
| Jason | I used to like to be alone and didn't feel like talking to anyone. But when I met Robin and Dick, I found that they were really good people. Then gradually we became closer and finally became good friends. Thanks to them, I'm talkative (健谈) and outgoing now, and I have made many other friends. I talk and play with my friends every day and each day I feel happy. |

76. How many friends does the writer mention (提及) in the passage?

77. Who always encourages Robin after he came to the middle school?

78. Why did Dick's father do morning exercise with him?

79. When did Dick get the first prize?

80. What is Jason like now?
