B

A mouse ran across the face of a sleeping lion and woke him up. The lion was very angry. He put out his paw and caught the mouse.

"You woke me up," he said. "I will now eat you."

"Please don't," the mouse said. "If you let me alive, I promise (承诺) I will help you one day."

The lion laughed. He couldn't think of how a small mouse could ever help him, but he said, "Very well. I'll let you go this time. But don't wake me up again."

A year passed. The lion fell into a hole dug by a hunter. The hunter then tied him up with ropes. The lion tried to get away, but he could not.

The mouse spoke to the lion, "Do you remember me? You let me free a year ago. Now I can return your help."

The mouse began to cut into the rope with his teeth. The lion got out of the rope, and climbed out of the hole. He was free!

54. Why did the lion laugh when he heard the mouse's promise?
A. He could eat the mouse finally.
B. He could run away from the hunter.
C. He wasn't afraid of falling into a hole.
D. He didn't think the mouse could help him.

C. Sometimes even small ones can help strong ones.
D. It's dangerous to wake up a lion when it is sleeping.

C

Jessica and Ellen were having fun at the park near their home. It was a hot summer day. They loved the feeling of the air on their faces when they were running. After a little while, they wanted to have a rest. Their mum gave the twins some money to get a summer treat at the park's snack shop.

"What are you getting?" asked Jessica. "I want an orange popsicle (冰棒). That's my favourite kind." answered Ellen. The girls bought two popsicles and went home happily.

They wanted to know who made the first popsicle, so they asked their mom. "Oh, the first popsicle was made by a boy just about your age," said mom, "He was eleven. He mixed juice and water together and put it on the table outside the house. He forgot to bring his drink into the house and it froze because it was really cold outside. That's how the first popsicle was made. Later the boy made more and sold them to the neighbors. When he grew up, he started a popsicle factory."

The two girls felt very surprised that a little boy made the first popsicle. They really hoped that they could invent something new one day.

58. From the first two paragraphs, we know that the girls _____.
A. liked the apple popsicle B. ran on a cold winter day
C. bought only one popsicle D. had a good time in the park
59. How did the girls feel after hearing the story?

第二节: 选出能够填入短文空白处的最佳选项, 使短文通顺连贯, 其中有两项是多余的。
(共5小题; 每小题1分, 满分5分)

We need to be polite when we are eating, but some people don't have good manners (行为). Now let me tell you some.

Don't circle your plate with your arms. If you do so, others will look at you. 62 They may also think that you don't like the food.

63 Leave it where it was. Don't lie on the back of the chair and say "I'm enough." or "I'm full." That's not polite. Just put the fork and knife across the plate. That's all.

Don't cut up anything until you start to eat. 64

Don't take a mouthful of anything. Do you want to show how hungry you are? Don't do that. It's impolite, too. 65

It's not good to reach across the table for anything. If the thing you want is not at hand, just ask others for help. 66

- A. Cut only one or two bites at a time.
B. You can go to the kitchen to choose food.
C. You can stop eating if you don't like the food.
D. Don't push the plate back when you finish eating.
E. They may think, "Is there anything wrong with the food?"
F. For example, you can say "Could you pass me the dish, please?"
G. It makes others feel bad if you have too much food in your mouth.

Friendship Day

Friendship Day is on the first Sunday of August every year. People in the US firstly celebrated it in 1935. And now people in other countries are interested in it, too.

In 1997, the United Nations named Winnie the Pooh as the world's symbol (象征) of Friendship Day.

The traditional celebrations have activities like meeting with friends and exchanging (交换) cards, flowers and gifts. Some people may have parties with their friends. Some may have lunch or dinner together. Others may go out to watch movies on this special day. They do many things to have fun.

Although Friendship Day and its celebrations may have changed over the years, the idea behind the festival is always the same. People show love and care to their friends. As you know, love and care are the most important parts in friendship.
