An exhibition(展览) about the Grand Canal(大运河) ended at the National Museum of China in Beijing on March 1st.

The Grand Canal is more than 2,500 years old. It is made up of the Beijing-Hangzhou Grand Canal, the Sui and Tang Grand Canal, and the Zhedong Canal. At nearly 3,200 kilometers long, it is the world's longest man-made waterway. It has influenced the development of China for hundreds of years.

Before it was built, people in ancient China used horses or simply traveled on foot to trade goods(货物). It was impossible to carry large-sized goods. After the Grand Canal connected the north and the south, business and cultural exchanges were able to develop further.

In fact, the Grand Canal played an important role in the building of the Palace Museum. Materials from different parts of the country were sent to Beijing through the canal, including bricks fired in Shandong and Jiangsu and wood cut in Hunan. People even owe the beginning of Beijing duck to the canal. White lake ducks in the south were shipped to Beijing. They were then kept to make Beijing duck. People from all walks of life preferred to get together along the canal. They shared their experiences, traditions and culture with others.

70. What was impossible between the north and the south before the Grand Canal was put into use?
 A. Trading goods. B. Traveling by ship.
 C. Carrying small goods. D. Shipping large-sized goods.
71. What does the underlined word "owe" in Paragraph 4 mean?
 A. 归功于 B. 运送 C. 欠债 D. 阻碍
72. What's the main idea of the passage?
 A. The Grand Canal helps to create new jobs.
 B. The Grand Canal makes western culture develop.
 C. The Grand Canal influences China's development.
 D. The Grand Canal helps the south of China develop faster.

F

As the double reduction policy(双减政策) comes out, many students may have time to enjoy after-school activities. Some students can play sports. They may play soccer, pingpong or do Chinese kungfu.

Some students go to learn music. They sing, dance or play some instruments. Other students can draw or practice calligraphy(书法) and more. Many people believe after-school activities are fun and good for students.

But why should students do after-school activities? Here are some good reasons. First, doing an after-school activity is a good short break from studying. After the break, students can better focus on the class or their schoolwork. Next, students can make some friends while doing after-school activities. Finally, students can get some new skills from the activities. They are important for them to work with others or deal with themselves.

73. Why can many students have more time to enjoy after-school activities? (不超过10个词)
74. What do many people think of after-school activities? (不超过10个词)

A question I asked

Dear Candy,

It's a sad truth that there are dishonest people in the world. We don't like to think about this and try to forget it when we can. But sometimes, we meet people like this.

It's another truth that you never know when someone might turn their back on you even after you've known them for a long time. All you can do is just to remember the good in people. Don't give up on others. As for those who have made you feel bad, you don't have to forgive(原谅) them if you don't want to. However, do keep in mind that people sometimes say things without realizing them. If so, it's best to forgive them and try to make friends with them again.

Mike

62. What do we know about the library?

- A. It provides books all about Wuhan University.
B. It got its name from a leader in the university.
C. It makes rules in order to control reading time.
D. It offers free dinner to the students with scores.

You might not think much about where your rubbish goes. But now you might want to know. Last year, Shanghai introduced a new rubbish-sorting policy(垃圾分类政策). People there need to put different kinds of rubbish into different bins. The other cities in China will do the same soon.

Rubbish sorting is a big problem because there is too much rubbish these days. It is bad for our environment. In fact, we can make use of some rubbish again. But first, we need to sort it. For example, if you put an old battery(电池) into the "harmful waste" bin, people can use it to make new batteries. But if you don't, the battery will end up somewhere else. Then, it will pollute the environment.

Rubbish sorting and recycling around the world

Germany: There are big machines in supermarkets. You can put bottles in the machines and get money back.

Japan: A truck playing music comes to people's doors to pick up their rubbish. There are eight or more kinds of rubbish. If you sort any of them wrong, you will get a notice on your door.

Indonesia: People can take buses for free if they give plastic bottles to bus-stations. An hour-long bus ride costs three large bottles.

Four kinds of rubbish in Shanghai

Recyclable rubbish includes paper, books, plastic, and glass bottles. Harmful rubbish includes useless medicine, batteries, and other things with harmful chemicals. Wet rubbish usually comes from the kitchen, such as food and vegetables. Dry rubbish is anything you cannot put into the other three bins, pens and towels, for example.

63. What can we learn from Paragraph 1?

- A. Many countries take Shanghai's rubbish-sorting policy.
B. All the cities in China have rubbish-sorting policies now.
C. Shanghai is the first city in China to make a rubbish-sorting policy.
D. China is the first country in the world to make a rubbish-sorting policy.

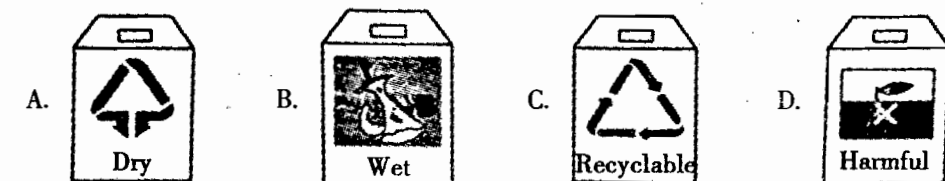

64. What does the writer want to tell us by giving the "battery" example in the second paragraph?

- A. How to sort our rubbish. B. How important sorting is.
C. How useless the waste is. D. How difficult sorting is.

65. What can you do if you want to take a free bus ride in Indonesia?

- A. Play a piece of music. B. Take plastic bottles to the station.
C. Get a notice on the door. D. Put rubbish into different bins.

66. Which bin should "newspapers" go to?

D

Godesky begins her first day of a special journey. It'll take her three and a half days to climb up the mountains. She is one of the runners who are creating the speed record in the mountains. More and more runners take an active part in the activity because all the races were canceled. It is called FKT.

From March to September of 2019, runners set about 700 FKT. This year, nearly 3,000 new FKT have been recorded according to a website. The activity routes(路线) are mostly in the mountains.

This summer, Hicks set a new FKT on a mountain road. "The sky and the mountains are very beautiful," he said. "It's really a special place."
