Bingling Cave-Temple Tourism Area is located in the northwest of China. It covers an area of 150 square kilometers and it is mainly made up of Bingling Lake, Bingling Stone Forest and Binglingsi Grottoes (炳灵寺石窟) .

➤ Bingling Lake

Bingling Lake is a huge, clean and pollution-free lake that meets the national standard for second-class drinking water. It is famous for being the setting for the opening scene of the film A World without Thieves. You can spend about 1.5 hours taking a speed boat to enjoy its nice view or nearly 5 hours on a cruise ship to peacefully capture its beauty. The whole distance is about 108 kilometers.

Opening hours: 9:00 - 18:00

Price for speed boat / cruise ship: ¥ 150/ ¥ 70 per person

➤ Bingling Stone Forest

Bingling Stone Forest covers an area of about 30 square kilometers and is a typical Danxia landform near water. In the park, there are thousands of peaks, hundreds of narrow valleys and zigzags, which, together with various types of stone peaks, constitute a strange world of stone forest.

Opening hours: 9:00 - 18:00

Admission: ¥ 60 per person

➤ Bingling Grottoes

Bingling Grottoes, founded more than 1,600 years ago, is entitled one of the six famous grottoes in China. In June 2014, it was included in the UNESCO World Heritage List.

Inside Binglingsi Grottoes, you can appreciate 216 caves and niches, 800 odd statues of various types and over 1,000 square meters of frescoes (壁画) with both Tibetan and Han styles. You can also appreciate 56 Buddhist pagodas and 438 pieces in collection.

The inscriptions (碑文) inside, which are proved to be the earliest inscriptions in China and can be used to judge a clear date of the statue, provide an important basis for determination of the age of the early grottoes in China.

Imagine your home is in the center of a big circle. Everything you need is a 10-minute walk away. How ___65___!

Recently, a group of architects decided to make this a reality. They are planning a city with everything people need - including living areas, study rooms, offices and entertainment areas __66__ a 10-minute walk from home.

When explaining the aim of the city, Ben van Berkel, co-founder of Design Company, said people's daily life experience is the most important. The "10-minute city" can save time we usually use to __67__ elsewhere. "With time that is saved, more time is created," Berkel said.

The idea of such a city is not new. In 2016, a researcher called Carlos Moreno put forward the "15-minute city" idea. And it has become more popular nowadays since many people have been forced to spend most of their time at home, with less __68__ to go out of their neighbourhood.

Paloma Ezzet, 16, is an __69__. She said that in the past, she liked to play soccer or go dancing. But during a period of time, she had to give them up because no such entertainment areas or facilities were in her neighbourhood. "It is lonely and frustrating," Ezzet said.

But not everyone likes the idea. Some people say it would further concentrate wealth in the most popular areas. __70__ high house prices.

So, with such risk, should people stop considering this idea? Maybe not. As Bobulescu said. "The seeds are there, and they'll grow little by little?"

C. Read the passage and fill in the blanks with proper words (在短文的空格内填入适当的词, 是其内容通顺, 每空格限填一次, 首字母已给)

Beethoven (贝多芬) is famous for his nine symphonies (交响乐). Before he died, he began a new symphony, but never finished it. Computer scientists and musicians have now used artificial intelligence (AI 人工智能) to complete his 10th Symphony.

Beethoven was born over 250 years ago, yet his music is still played daily around the world.

Beethoven wrote many famous pieces of music, especially his nine symphonies. When Beethoven died in 1827, he had some ideas for a 10th Symphony. But all that he left behind were some notes about the piece and a few "sketches" - short bits of written music.

In 2019, a special team of musicians, computer scientists, and historians was formed. Their g__73__ is to try to complete Beethoven's 10th Symphony to celebrate his 250th birthday. The team didn't just want to complete the symphony, they wanted to come as close as possible to producing the symphony that Beethoven meant to write. That's where AI came in.

To t__74__ an AI to help with the symphony, the team turned every piece of music that Beethoven ever wrote into a form the computer could understand. In this way, the AI could look for patterns in the way Beethoven wrote.

Other members of the team studied Beethoven's notes and sketches, and worked to figure out what Beethoven was p__75__ to do.

One early test told the team they were on the r__76__ track. They took a few minutes of music created by the AI based on Beethoven's sketches, and played it for Beethoven experts, musicians, and reporters. No one could tell which parts had been written by Beethoven and which parts the AI made up.

It took the team over two years to complete Beethoven's 10th Symphony. Recently, it was performed for the first time ever by the Beethoven Orchestra in Bonn, Germany.

So Beethoven now has a 10th Symphony. And t__77__ Beethoven didn't write it all, the team feels sure that the music is very much like what he might have written.

D. Read the passage below and answer the following questions (根据文章内容回答下列问题)

__83__

If you are a hiker or a nature lover, you'll enjoy reading A Walk in the Woods.

It's a true story, written as a comedy. The author is Bill Bryson. Bryson returned to the US after 20 years in Britain and decided to get familiar with his native country by walking the Appalachian Trail (阿巴拉契亚山道) .

The trail, about 3,500 kilometers long, is popular with thousands of hikers. It goes from Springer Mountain in Georgia to Mount Katahdin in Maine. The story offers a landscape of silent forests and beautiful lakes. But as a writer with comic genius, Bryson also finds humor in the struggles that he and his old friend, Stephen Katz, went through.

Lots of silly things happen along the way. At the beginning, Bryson reads about the dangers of the wild and stays awake for hours each night, because he is worried he will be killed by bears. Later the two middle-aged men try to climb a mountain but get caught in a snow-storm. They get lost more than once, but they always manage to find their way back to the trail. They also meet a lot of strange people.

But the story is more than just a laugh-out-loud hike. Bryson also talks about acid rain (酸雨), the hunting of birds, and damage to the ecosystem (生态系统). It's a mix of the silly and the serious, a fresh way of getting readers to actually care about the environment problems. As the website Book Browse said in a review, the book "will certainly become a modern classic of travel literature".

78. Bill Bryson comes from Britain, doesn't he?

79. How long is the Appalachian Trail?

80. Why does Bryson stay awake for hours each night during his life on the trail?

81. What happens to Bryson and his friend when they try to climb a mountain?

82. What is the implied (隐含的) meaning of the underlined sentence?

The book not only _____, but also _____.

83. Please give a proper title for the passage. (No more than 10 words)

VII. Writing

84. Write a passage of at least 60 words about the topic "The best _____ I have ever met" (请以“最美的遇见”为题写一篇不少于 60 个词的短文, 标点符号不占格)

一场美丽的相遇是生命的恩赐, 是缘分的开始。最美的遇见可以是雨后的彩虹, 可以是陪伴的挚友, 亦可是成长的鼓励等。请选择一个方面, 结合你的经历, 谈谈你的感受。
