Honesty is a long-lasting virtue (美德) not only for the Chinese people, but also for the people all over the world. But many people believe that in the market economy (市场经济) society, honesty will disappear someday in the future.

For example, the food safety problem influences all aged people, from a one-month-old baby to an old person. This shows that some people are not honest. That's too bad. If everyone is not honest, how can we trust each other? Yet, every year, after the college entrance exams (高考), some companies will find the students who got the highest mark in the exam. They ask him or her to be in an advertisement.

In the advertisement, the student tells us he or she has used the company's learning products and then got No. 1 in the exam. In fact, it's not easy for students to become No. 1. Most of them succeed not because of the products, but their proper ways of learning and hard work. It has nothing to do with the products. But they do so for getting some money.

So our society is facing an honesty problem. If we can't deal with it well, the society will worse and worse in morality (道德). We will be led to a terrible society that I daren't imagine. Honesty is important. I expect everyone to keep it in mind.

Last Sunday evening I went to the cinema with my kids to watch the film The Island. We arrived there twenty minutes earlier to get good seats. But fifteen minutes after the movie was on, three young men sat directly behind me with their feet on the back of my seat. Then my seat started to shake as they could not stop shaking their feet. A woman nearby talked loudly to her friend although her conversation had nothing to do with the film. A couple next to me was discussing everything they saw on the screen. Could it get any noisier? Oh yes, the ringing of a mobile phone. Several rings later, someone pulled out his phone and actually took the call. Halfway through the film, I had no idea what was happening on the screen. It had become a movie about shaking, ringing and talking.

Good evening! Tonight, the main news is about the bad weather we are having. Storms are reported all over the country. The situation is as serious in our city. Two main roads in the city center are blocked by fallen trees. In the east, fifteen houses fell down in the rain last night and two trucks were blown over by the wind. Quite a few seaside villages in the south are now in the sea water. Many small boats were lost and this morning three boats were found two miles away on land. Things were better in the west. An old lady was reported missing at noon but luckily, she was found by her neighbors. She was caught in the rain in a forest and had to wait for over six hours there. Good news is that no storms are expected tomorrow.
