When I was very young, my parents were busy working all day. One day, we moved to a house with a yard in Brighton on my third birthday. My first memory was our 36. Arlene handing me strawberries from her garden. She and her husband, Bill, lived next door.

There weren't any kids of my age in the neighborhood, so I 37 played in the yard with my dogs. Arlene spent lots of time 38 in the garden, and I was always talking to her from our yard. She never got 39 of listening to me talk. I think Arlene saw herself in me - we were both lonely kids -- and that may be why she always listened to me.

One day, my parents asked Bill and Arlene whether they'd 40 me while they were out. They agreed and they had a spare room in their house, which became " 41 " room. Arlene and I would do things together. We made clothes for dolls. Bill taught me how to ride a bike. He was always 42 something in his garage. I would hang around to 43 to him, and he would always stop 44 to me, just like Arlene did.

When I was about five, I had a(an) 45. One day, I knocked on Bill and Arlene's door and said, "Will you be my 46 ?" They started crying and excitedly 47 my advice. They had never thought of having the 48 to be parents or even grandparents one day. From then on, I called Bill and Arlene Grandpa and Grandma. Over the years, Bill and Arlene supported me in all my dreams.

Arlene passed away in 2021. 49 the end of the funeral(葬礼), I gave the eulogy(悼词), "The greatest joy of my life, my grandmother. "After the funeral, Bill gave me a ring. It's a gold ring that I wear on my ring finger to help me remember the kind of 50 I wish to put into this world.

四、阅读理解。（共 15 题，每小题 2 分，计 30 分）

A

On January 13th, 2022, as a member of the Sunshine student reporter group, I went to Yancheng City Park to have some street interviews .

I asked some parents and kids about their opinions on the "Double Reduction" policy. Here's what they said .

Gao Li a nurse with two kids	I agree with the policy. My kids have more free time on weekends. My daughter, Xiao Wen, goes to learn ballet and my son, Xiao Tian, learns to play the piano. And we can have more family activities together. We often go hiking on weekends.
Xiao Le a student in Grade 7	Now I can do some reading or take up new hobbies in my spare time. I really like the policy, because doing these things can make us feel happy and
Li Bing a driver with a son	My son, Li Xiang, is in a middle school. He often finishes his homework at school, so he can read different books he likes at home. And he often helps us do some housework.
Xiao Juan a student in Grade 8	We students have enough sleep every night. Good sleep keeps us active during the day. And on weekends we have more time to learn new skills and to do some volunteer activities.

- ( ) 51. The writer in the passage must be _____ .
 A. a student    B. a worker    C. a nurse    D. a driver
- ( ) 52. What are the interviews about?
 A. Family activities.    B. The "Double Reduction" policy.
 C. A holiday plan.    D. Healthy living habits.
- ( ) 53 Where may the passage be from?
 A. A novel.    B. A newspaper.    C. An ad.    D. A poster.

In Spain, children and their families are riding bikes to school together in large groups. The program is called "bicibus" or bike bus. In Barcelona, the program started with only five children and grew quickly to hundreds of riders.

The bicibus begins around 8: 25 every Friday morning. It starts off with just a few students and parents, with more and more joining as it travels along. The bicibus takes over all the lanes(车道)of the street, not only the bike lanes. With music playing, it feels like a party. When students reach their school, they leave the bus and park their bikes.

Nine - year - old Maria Pitarch says, "The best part of the bicibus is that we ride along and pick up friends and we ride together. "

It was possible to bike to school before, but it was unsafe for kids. One of the main roads used by the bicibus has about 20, 000 cars every day. Because these are busy streets, the local police are helping stop traffic by riding in front of the bicibus and behind it.

Parents are hoping that the bicibus will help change ideas about how people can commute in the city. They want the city to create wider, kid - friendly bike lanes, and point out that the bicibus also helps cut down on pollution.

Pictures of the bicibus got a lot of attention when they were posted online. Many people pointed out what a simple idea it is, and how easy it is to get started . Already some other areas are also organizing bicibus.

- ( ) 54 Maria will probably think bike bus is _____ .
 A. Common    B. terrible    C. enjoyable    D. boring
- ( ) 55. The underlined word "commute" in this passage means _____ .
 A. think    B. stay    C. study    D. travel
- ( ) 56. Why did fewer children ride to school before?
 A. Because there was too much traffic.    B. Because it wasn't interesting enough.
 C. Because the police didn't help at all.    D. Because they weren't allowed to ride alone.

C

Five, four, three, two, one, blast off(发射升空)! At 00: 23 on Oct 16, 2021, the Shenzhou XIII spacecraft rose into the sky from the Jiuquan Satellite Launch Center in Gansu. Three Chinese astronauts - Zhai Zhigang, Wang Yaping and Ye Guangfu - set off for the Tiangong space station.

The spacecraft successfully docked(对接) with the space station core module Tianhe. The astronauts will stay in space for six months, carrying out the longest - ever space mission by Chinese astronauts.

Shenzhou XIII is the fourth spacecraft to visit the Tiangong station and the second manned(载人) ship to transport astronauts to the orbiting outpost(轨道位置). Before it, Shenzhou XII manned spacecraft was launched on June 17, carrying three astronauts - Nie Haisheng, Liu Boming and Tang Hongbo. They stayed in the space station for three months and returned to Earth on Sept 17.

The Shenzhou XIII astronauts have a wide range of tasks, such as doing medical experiments, setting up robotic(机械的)arms and checking the devices inside the station. They have performed two space walks to work outside the station - one was on Nov 7, with Wang becoming China's first female spacewalker, while the other was on Dec 26.

The Shenzhou XIII mission has fueled(点燃) teenagers' passion for space exploration as well. On Dec 9, the astronauts gave a science lesson to millions of students on Earth. They showed the kids their space life and did some fun science experiments. For example, Wang made a water ball to show that water in space is different from that on Earth. It will not flow downward(向下) if you try to pour it into a cup.

Denis Simon, director of the Center for Innovation Policy at Duke University in the US, told Xinhua that China's success in space continues to be impressive. "China is now well on its way to being a leader in space exploration," he said.

- ( ) 57. What do we know about the mission of Shenzhou XIII?
 A. It has the most astronauts ever sent into space.
 B. It is the first mission to send astronauts to an orbiting outpost.

- C. The spacecraft is the first one to visit the Tiangong space station
 D. It is the longest - ever space mission by Chinese astronauts.
- ( ) 58. Paragraph 4 mainly tells us about _____.
- A. devices astronauts used to finish their tasks    B. the tasks for Shenzhou XIII astronauts
 C. how the space walks were performed    D. who spacewalkers are
- ( ) 59. What do we know about water in space?
- A. It does not flow downward.    B. Its color is different from water on Earth.
 C. It flows quicker than it does on Earth    D. It will break a cup if people try to pour it.
- ( ) 60. What does Denis Simon mean in the last paragraph?
- A. There will be more success in space exploration around the world.
 B. Cooperation between China and the US is going well.
 C. China has followed the laws of space exploration.
 D. China has done a great job in space exploration

D

"Well, I'll eat the cake," Alice said. If I get taller, I can reach the key on the table. And if I get smaller, I can go under the door into the garden." Then she finished the cake very soon.

"I shall be as tall as a house in a minute," she said. She tried to look down at her feet. And could only just see them.

Just then her head hit the ceiling (天花板) of the room. She was now about three metres tall. Quickly, she took the key from the table and hurried to the garden door. But she was too tall to go through the door. She began to cry. The tears ran down her face, and soon there was a large pool of salt water all around her on the floor. Suddenly, she heard a voice, and she stopped crying to listen. "Oh, the Duchess (公爵夫人), the Duchess! She'll be very angry! I'm late, and she's waiting for me, Oh dear, oh dear!" It was the White Rabbit again. He was hurrying down the long room, with a pair of white gloves in one hand and a fan in the other hand. Alice was afraid, but she needed help. So she said in a low voice, "Oh, please, sir—"

Her voice frightened (使惊恐) the Rabbit. He dropped the gloves and the fan, and ran away quickly

Alice picked up the gloves and the fan. The room was very hot, so she cooled down with the fan. She said, "Oh dear! How strange everything is today! Shall I get smaller during the night?"

She began to feel very unhappy again, but then she looked down at her hand. She was wearing one of the Rabbit's white gloves. "How did I get it on my hand?" She thought. "Oh, I'm getting smaller again! I'm already less than a metre tall. And getting smaller every second! How can I stop it?" She saw the fan in her other hand. "It must be the fan!" she thought, and quickly she dropped it.

She was now very, very small, and the key was still lying on the table.

"Things are worse than ever," thought poor Alice. She turned away from the door, and fell into salt water, right up to her neck. At first she thought it was the sea, but then she saw it was the pool of her own tears.

"Oh, why did I cry so much?" said Alice. She swam around and looked for a way out, but the pool was very big. Just then she saw an animal in the water near her. It looked like a large animal to Alice, but it was only a mouse.

"Shall I speak to it?" thought Alice. "Everything is very strange here, so perhaps a mouse can speak.

Then she began, "Oh, Mouse, do you know the way out of this pool? I am very tired of swimming."

But the mouse looked at her with its little eyes and said nothing.

"Perhaps it doesn't understand English," thought Alice. "Perhaps it's a French mouse." So she began again, and said in French, "Where is my cat?" (This was the first sentence in her French book.)

The mouse jumped half out of the water and looked at her angrily.

"Oh, I'm sorry!" cried Alice quickly. "Of course, you don't like cats, do you?"

"No. I don't like cats," the mouse replied.

(-) 阅读短文, 从 A-F 六个选项中, 选出五个适当的选项补全短文。(共 5 小题, 每小题 2 分, 计 10 分)

There are so many expressions in American English that sound pleasant but are not.

66 _____ When someone says they have to "face the music", it does not mean they are going to a concert. "Facing the music" means to accept the punishment of an action.

67 _____ For example, "I can't face another night of camping! It's cold and rainy."
 "In life, you must face your fears." Face used in this way is very common. Back to facing the music: Imagine a friend asks you to take care of her expensive sports car. She gives you the keys and says, "Thanks so much for watching my car while I'm away. But please, do not drive it. It is an extremely (极其) fast car." 68. _____ You want to show off to some friends. So, you drive it around town one night. As bad luck would have it, you lose control of the car and drive it into a stop sign. Bang!

When your friend returns, you must tell her what you have done and "face the music". 69. _____ music is, you must face it.

70 _____ To "take your medicine" means to accept the results from something bad you have done. And if someone says, "You made your bed. Now lie in it," they mean you created a bad situation and how you have to experience the results!

- A. But you do not listen.
 B. The "music" here is the result of your actions.
 C. Americans often use the word "face" in this way.
 D. "Face the music" is a good example.
 E. American people use "face the music" a lot in their daily life.
 F. There are other American expressions that mean the same thing as "face the music".

(二) 阅读并回答问题。(共 5 小题, 每小题 2 分, 计 10 分)

A friend gave me a restaurant gift card, and I picked a sunny Sunday afternoon to use it. It felt good taking my family to a nice restaurant. The meal was delicious, and we all had a good time together. The gift card covered almost all of the check (帐单). I reached into my wallet to get enough cash to cover the rest. I saw two bills inside. The first would cover the rest of the check. The second would cover the check and give the waitress a nice tip. I reached down to pick the first one.

At that moment, my mind flashed back to 30 years ago. I was working as a busboy (餐厅勤杂工) in a restaurant much like the one we were in. It was hard work for low pay. I remembered seeing the waitresses worrying about how they were going to pay the rent. I remembered the pain in their eyes and the sadness in their faces at the end of the day.

I blinked (眨眼睛) and was back in the present again, with my fingers touching the smaller bill in my wallet. I smiled, pushed it back down and picked out the larger bill. I folded it around the gift card and covered both of them with the check. As we all got up from the table, I handed them to the hardworking waitress. "You keep the change," I said with a smile and a happy heart.

We are all one family in this world. Do your best to be kind. Do your best to be a good person and replace suffering with joy.
