A
I'VE SAVED THE SUMMER

—Rod McKuen

I've saved the summer
And I give it all to you
To hold on winter mornings
When the snow is new.
I've saved some sunlight
If you should ever need
A place away from darkness
Where your mind can feed.
And for myself I've kept your smile
When you were nineteen
Till you're older you'll not know
What brave young smiles can mean.
I know no answers
To help you on your way
The answers lie somewhere
At the bottom of the day.
But if you've a need for love
I'll give you all I own.
It might help you down the road
Till you've found your own.

Gu Ailing won a gold medal in the women's freestyle big air event (自由式滑大跳台) at the 2022 Beijing Winter Olympics. This exciting news made all Chinese people excited and surprised because this was China's first gold medal of snow event in the history of the 2022 Beijing Winter Olympics.

Gu Ailing was born in Los Angeles. Her father is American and her mother is Chinese. Gu grows up in a bilingual environment. She can speak Chinese very well and call herself a Beijing girl. Her mother talks to her in Chinese at home. Gu comes back to Beijing every summer holiday to visit the city. "China is a very beautiful country with a lot of nice people, interesting things and delicious food," Gu said.

In fact, Gu is not only a talented skier but also a top student. She has classes normally from Monday to Friday, takes part in different kinds of activities in the school, and can only go skiing for the training on weekends and holidays. However, she still gets excellent results in sports and schoolwork. In 2020, she got into Stanford University with almost full grades.

In June, 2021, Gu wrote on the Internet that she decided to compete for China in the

Want to Speak Like Mr. Bean?

Welcome to Sunshine Language Learning Centre!

Sunshine Language Learning Centre will set a course to teach British English. Maybe you've known some British expressions are quite different from American ones. British people use "autumn" for "fall", "film" for "movie", "holiday" for "vacation", "garden" for "yard", etc.

There are more expressions that you may not know. Here are Mr. Bean's examples. British people use "Cheers" much more often than "Thanks". "Cheers" is often used by them in daily conversations to express thankfulness for small favors (帮忙), such as opening doors for others, lending somebody a pen, showing strangers ways...

Are you interested in it? Do you want to learn more? You can learn British English well if you put much effort into it. We have five British teachers with much teaching experience to help you.

Course fee: ¥ 500 for one person; ¥ 900 for two; ¥ 1,200 for three; for four students or more, ¥ 350 each.

Classes are on Saturday night from March 12th to August 13th, 55 minutes for each class. One or two hour classes or even more can be given to those who need to quickly improve their spoken British English. As for longer classes, students will have to pay 30% more for each class.

For further information, call 400-810-2345 or search <http://www.BEcourse.com>.

Come and join us!

 C. You can know more about the course by calling the centre or visiting their website.
 D. Two-hour classes are twice more expensive than 55-minute classes.

As a child, whenever you have a problem, you are most likely to turn to your family members or friends to solve it. But as you grow up, you should learn how to do things on your own, because a part of being an adult is to master certain basic life skills. However, it turns out that many kids, even adults are gradually losing these skills. Whether it's tying their shoes, learning to ride a bike or learning to swim, they all have a little trouble in mastering some certain important life skills. Nowadays, some children don't know how to deal with the trouble they meet. When in trouble, they ask their parents for help right away. In this way, they can't form their own independence (独立性).

Why do children lose their ability of independence? One reason is that parents care about them too much. Actually, many parents often pay more attention to children's study and grades, while easily forget the importance of children's independence. They try every means to help them and even don't let them do any housework. Once the child leaves the family, they won't have the ability to take care of themselves.

American expert Tuimeng has spent more than 30 years researching 1, 500 children, and he found that excellent children have the independent ability and persistent (坚持不懈的) spirit. And they have the desire (欲望) to tackle any difficulties by themselves.

In fact, every child has a strong sense of independence. When they can independently complete a thing, they will be very proud and happy. So parents should give their children support and encouragement. While schools can provide more chances for students to attend competitions, social activities or volunteer jobs, parents and schools can also teach them some basic life skills according to their age, like cooking, washing and cleaning.

The child is a member of the family, and they should take the responsibility to do some housework. This can not only develop their independence, but also improve the sense of belonging.

- ( ) 61. What is a part of being an adult?
 A. To learn how to manage time.
 B. To master some basic life skills.
 C. To know how to ask for help.
 D. To have a clear goal.
- ( ) 62. What's the result if children always ask their parents for help when in trouble?
 A. Their parents will be tired of that.
 B. Their parents will teach them some skills.
 C. They can't develop the ability of independence.
 D. They will face more challenges in the future.

- ( ) 63. Which question could best help us find out the writer's purpose in writing Paragraph 2?
 A. Did the writer show the importance of independence?
 B. Did the writer provide some advice for parents?
 C. Did the writer add some background information?
 D. Did the writer tell the reason behind the facts?
- ( ) 64. Which of the following best explains the underlined word "tackle"?
 A. Solve.      B. Face.      C. Ask.      D. Prepare.
- ( ) 65. What is the passage mainly about?
 A. The experts' opinions on independence.
 B. The methods of overcoming difficulties.
 C. The results of a survey about children.
 D. The importance of independence for children.

IX. 任务型阅读 (共5小题, 每小题2分, 满分10分)

阅读下面短文, 按要求完成66-70题

There's no doubt that we use the Internet more often than we think nowadays. Everyone needs to look for some useful information or news online in daily life. But a lot of fake (虚假的) information has gradually come into our life. We can be easily misled (误导) by the fake information if we don't realize or check whether it is true or not.

Here are some ways that can help us tell the fake information from the true information online.

First, pay attention to the fake photos. Much fake news uses different photos that are changed or taken from other websites. Second, check if the news is the latest one. This requires us to see the date and time of the news, which are usually listed at the bottom or on the top. Third, check the writer. Usually, if the writer has published many articles before, the information from him is more likely to be true.

Although these ways can mostly be helpful, we also need to improve our abilities in the Internet age. We are supposed to learn new knowledge as much as possible. We should also experience different things, and take part in social activities. These ways can help us have a better understanding of what is spreading on the Internet. Therefore, figuring out what is fake news is quite necessary for all of us and helps us make wiser decisions.
