Chinese snowboarder Su Yiming shone brightly at the Beijing 2022 Winter Games. He believed the two Olympic medals he got were the best gifts for his 18th birthday.

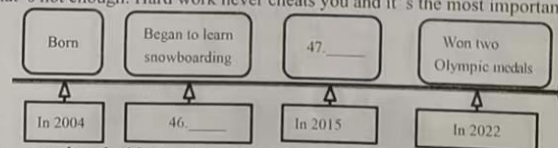

Su Yiming, born in 2004, began to learn snowboarding with his parents at the age of 4. In 2015, the news came that Beijing would hold the 2022 Games. Su was in the primary school then. "I promised myself that I would try to take part in my home Olympics. To many people, it sounded like an unrealistic (不切实际的) goal. But in the following time, I just kept practicing nearly 320 days a year to become better and better," said Su.

Su competed at a World Cup in 2019 for the first time when he was just 15 years old. He missed winning a medal. So from that time, he saw the difference between him and those top riders. This pushed him to work harder in the past three years. And in just three years and at the same slope, he won an Olympic gold.

Now with a gold and a silver hung around his neck, Su is like a bright star of the ice and snow and looks so "proud".

"If you have a goal, go for it!" said Su after his Olympic win. "Some people say I'm talented, but I think that's not enough. Hard work never cheats you and it's the most important."

Please complete the blanks 46, and 47, in the chart according to the passage.

Is it difficult for you to remember things? ①Many students feel stressed out when they have to remember a lot. There are a number of ways to help improve your memory.

If you want to remember something well, you have to review it regularly(有规律的). After you've learned some material, you need to go over the material the next day. Then review it one week later, then two weeks later, and then a month later. After a month you will find that you can have remembered the material so well.

You can use a colored pen to mark the important parts on your book. This will help you in two ways. ②首先, 它会帮助你关注最重要的部分。It is always easier to remember only by key points. Second, this will make reviewing easier. When you open your book, the colored parts will show you the key points right away. This way, you don't have to read every word again.

Choosing a proper time to remember also helps. For example, you can choose to go over all the information in your mind right before you go to sleep. Another good time for memorizing information is in the morning because you have just rested and your brain is fresh and clear. So, it's easy to memorize the important information in the morning.

56. 请找出和“it's necessary for you to review the material after one day.”意思相近的句子。

57. Why is it a good time to memorize information in the morning?

58. How many pieces of advice about improving memories are given in this passage?

59. 请将文中划线①处译成中文。

60. 请将文中划线②处译成英文。
