There are many kinds of friends. Some are always 16 you, but don't understand you. Some say only a few words to you, but understand you. Many people will step in your life, but only 17 friends leave footprints.

I shall always recall the autumn and the girl with the 18. She will always bring back the friendship between us.

It was the golden season. I could see the yellow leaves flying in the cool 19. In such a season, I liked walking alone in the leaves, listening to the sound of them.

Autumn is a harvest season but life is uninteresting. The free days always get me 20. But one day, the sound of a violin 21 into my ears like a stream flowing in the mountains. I was so surprised that I jumped to see what it was. A young girl, standing in the wind, was lost in 22 her violin.

I had 23 seen her before. The music was so nice that I listened quietly. Lost in the music, I had been standing there for so long but my existence (存在) did not seem to disturb her.

Leaves were still falling. Every day she played the violin in the corner of the building 24. I went downstairs to watch her performance. I was the only listener. The autumn seemed no longer lonely and life became 25. Autumn was nearly over. One day, when I was listening carefully, the sound suddenly 26. To my surprise, the girl came over to me.

"You must like the violin." she said.

"Yes. And you play very well. Why did you stop?" I asked. Suddenly, a 27 expression appeared on her face and I could feel something unusual.

"I came here to see my grandmother, but now I must leave. I once played very badly. It was your listening every day that 28 me." she said.

"29", it was your playing that gave me a meaningful autumn," I answered. "Let's be friends." The girl smiled, and so did I.

I never heard her playing again in my life. Only thick leaves were left behind. But I will always remember that girl. She was like a 30 —so short, so bright, like a shooting star giving off so much light that made the autumn beautiful.

B

A zero - waste life is a lifestyle that hardly creates any rubbish.

"Zero waste" was first suggested by a French woman called Bea Johnson. Her idea is: live a life and try not to create any rubbish; use different kinds of ways to save the environment, such as stopping the use of one - off objects; giving unwanted things to others or donating these things to organizations like the Red Cross.

A zero - waste life follows the 6R rule—Refuse, Reduce, Reuse, Repair, Recycle and Rot. Chen Yuan, 27, is deeply interested in this idea. She and her boyfriend Joe have lived in Beijing for many years. Over August - October when Chen followed the rule of zero waste 6R, she and her boyfriend both produced only two cans of rubbish. Now the couple have opened a small shop in Beijing, where they use wood products to take the place of plastic ones and cloth bags printed with environmentally logos. The store also has second - hand books and CDs to make the best of the used things.

"The zero - waste lifestyle is not for ascetics(苦行僧). It is just around us." Chen expects some of her friends to join her on the road to zero waste.

34. What should people do according to Bea Johnson's ideas?
 A. Living a kind of poor life. B. Trying to create no rubbish.
 C. Using the one - off objects. D. Throwing away unwanted things.
35. Which is right about Chen Yuan according to the passage?
 A. She is interested in the 6R rule. B. She offers plastic bags in her store.
 C. She likes listening to CDs a lot. D. She likes using cloth bags in her shop.
36. What can we know from the last paragraph?
 A. The zero - waste lifestyle is not hard to live.
 B. Chen's friends like the zero - waste lifestyle.
 C. Many people have lived the zero - waste lifestyle
 D. Chen wants her friend to open a second - hand shop.

I Remember

Looking back at these past three years

I remember many things

Tying to be on time for morning readings

39 when the lunch bell rings

I remember the excitement

Of the school sports day each year

The many long hours of training

Pride of overcoming fear

I remember starting day one

The shyest in my whole class

Never speaking to anyone

And thinking I would not pass

Then slowly I made some new friends

To remember forever

Helping each other with homework

Getting better together

"Oh boys, don't throw stones at the poor bird," said an old grey-headed man.

"Sir," said a little one, "She makes such a loud noise that we can't bear her."

"I am afraid the stone will rebound (反弹) and hurt you as long as you live!"

"Rebound! We don't understand you, sir!"

"Well, I will tell you a true story."

"Fifty years ago, I liked throwing stones because I had no other boy to play with and I became very skillful. One day I went to work for an old couple who were very friendly to everybody, even to the birds. And the birds seemed to love the old couple, too. For seven years a bird had come and built her nest (鸟巢) in the same place. She and her mate had just returned on the day I went to work and the old couple welcomed them happily. During the day, I thought I would try my skill upon her. Suddenly the bird flew to a tree near me. I found a nice stone, and I threw it with my best skill. It hit the bird on the head and she dropped dead!

"I was sorry the moment I saw her fall off the tree. But it was too late. All day long her mate flew about, and chirped (发啁啾声) so sadly that he made my heart ache. I said nothing to the old couple but one of their grandchildren told them about it. Though the old couple never said a word to me, I knew that they were very sad. I could never look them in the eye and tell them how sorry I was. They have been dead for many, many years, and so has the poor bird. But don't you see how that stone rebounded, and hit me? For fifty years I have still remembered it though I have never spoken of it before. But if what I have told you will stop you, I will be happy."

The boys at once dropped the stones in their hands and the bird had no more trouble from them.

41. Why did the boy throw stones at the bird according to what the little boy said?
- A. They played with the birds. B. They thought the bird was noisy.
C. They wanted to catch the bird. D. They wanted to practice their skills.
42. Which word can best describe the old couple?
- A. Kind. B. Proud. C. Strict. D. Funny.
43. What does the underlined word "They" refer to?
- A. The birds B. The old couple C. The boys D. The grandchildren
44. What can we learn from the text?
- A. Don't waste time, or you will get nothing. B. Keep practicing and you will be very skillful.
C. Try to save others and you will feel happier. D. Don't hurt others, or you will hurt yourself.
45. How did the old man stop the boys from throwing stones at the birds?
- A. By taking away their stones. B. By building the nest for the birds.
C. By telling them his own story. D. By punishing them with hard work.

B) 阅读短文,按要求回答问题。每题答案不超过7个单词。

Fan Shenghua, 61, is one of the inheritors (传承人) of the Longjing tea roasting technique. His palms tell you everything - they're thick, rough, and full of calluses (老茧); a reminder of more than 40 years of hard work. "You have to touch the leaves with your hands to see how much water should be removed," Fan said. "If too much is removed, the leaves will break into pieces; if not enough is removed, the tea will taste bitter."

This traditional technique dates back to the Ming and Qing dynasty. It not only ensures the quality of the tea, but also is an important part of Chinese tea culture. "Longjing tea leaves are famous for their color, taste and shape. Only by hand can we make the best of them. It's like making a work of art." Fan said.

These days, however, more people are using machines to do the job. "It's easier, but the quality is not as good," Fan said. "Machine-made tea floats longer in water and tastes bitter."

In March in 2020, when President Xi Jinping visited Hangzhou, he watched Fan roast tea leaves. Fan changed the strength and movement of his hands as he felt the tea leaves roast. Xi later said, "The things made by two palms cannot be replaced by modern technology."

Fan is now taking apprentices (学徒). His son, a college graduate, is one of them. "It's a tradition. We need to pass it down," said the father.

66. What will happen if the tea leaves have too much water?
67. When does the traditional tea roasting technique date back to?
68. Is machine-made tea as good as man-made tea according to Fan Shenghua's words?
69. What are Longjing tea leaves famous for?
70. Why is Fan Shenghua taking apprentices?

One possible version:

Doing English homework helps us to practice and use what we've learned in class.

Doing creative homework can make us more interested in English. Last winter holiday, our teacher asked us to design a poster about the Spring Festival. That was my favourite homework. It not only helped me go over the knowledge we've learned, but also provided a good chance to spread Chinese traditional culture.

In my opinion, it's also a good choice to write book reviews. It can help us to have a better understanding of the book. Besides, we can do some surveys on our hobbies and write reports. In this way, our English will develop quickly.

I hope we'll have more creative English homework in the future.
