二、完形填空 (共 8 小题, 计 8 分)

根据短文内容, 从方框中选出恰当的单词或短语填空, 使语意通顺完整。第一个方框供 21—24 小题选用, 第二个方框供 25—28 小题选用。每个选项只能使用一次, 每框有一项剩余。

A. be easy B. make a job easier C. invention clubs D. hard E. solve

Every year, thousands of young inventors show their ideas at NICEE9 (发明与创业博览会). Some kids are invited to NICEE. The main goal of NICEE is to help kids know real problems and find ways to _____ 21 _____ them.

To support this goal, many schools now have _____ 22 _____. Kids in the clubs work together. They look for ways to make life better. They might invent something to _____ 23 _____ or make people safer.

For example, Lucca wanted to help people like his grandmother. His grandmother was ill and had to wear a breathing mask (面罩). That made it _____ 24 _____ for others to hear her voice.

A. compare B. something new C. learn about D. on it E. meet

So Lucca invented a new mask. It has a microphone (麦克风). It sends the person's voice to a speaker (扬声器). Now users can talk with others.

Inventions can be simple. One winner, Maddow, made a new garden shovel (铁铲). The shovel has marks _____ 25 _____ to help gardeners know how deep to dig their holes.

When kids choose an idea, they have to build a model that works. They cannot spend more than 50 dollars. The invention must be _____ 26 _____. It also must fit inside a certain space.

NICEE shows the best invention from the states. Young inventors _____ 27 _____ one another. They see others' great ideas. Some of them win prizes. They can even _____ 28 _____ ways to sell their inventions.

三、阅读理解 (共 12 小题, 计 24 分)

阅读短文, 完成 29—40 小题。

According to a research, more than 130 billion pounds of uneaten (未吃的) food go to waste in Laura's country each year. That is about 30% of the yearly (每年的, 一年的) food supply. It is a sad fact, especially when you consider how many families and homeless people are in hunger.

When Laura saw her school dining hall throw away food that was not eaten at all every day, she came up with an idea. She started a project to help her school dining hall, to give away uneaten food to homeless shelters (庇护所) in her community. In the past three years, the same project has spread to other schools and some fast food restaurants throughout (遍及) the city. The project is called Feed & Find, and has already fed thousands of people in her city.

How does it work? Through an app, Feed & Find matches local homeless shelters with school dining halls and restaurants that have uneaten food to provide. When dining halls or restaurants have uneaten food left, they can use the app to share the information about food. A truck driver working for the project is then sent to pick it up and take it to a shelter.

Pretty cool, right? It is not surprising that people in other cities have got in touch with Laura, hoping that she could help develop the similar projects for their communities.

Some people, however, worry about the safety of the uneaten food. They think such food may not be clean enough. Still, this project is a clever way to help solve the problem of food waste and it helps those in need.

根据短文内容, 选择最佳答案。

29. The numbers in Paragraph 1 tell us _____.
A. some people are poor B. food waste is serious C. the population is large
30. Laura's project first got food from _____.
A. her school dining hall B. her family C. a fast food restaurant
31. People in other cities would like Laura to _____.
A. fire a truck driver B. visit their communities
C. help develop projects like hers
32. Which can be the best title for this passage?
A. A dining guide app B. A food sharing project C. A driving service app

All summer long, Alec waited and watched as his watermelons grew up every day. At first they were just very small, but each week they grew bigger until they were ten times the size of a mouse.

Alec often ate pumpkins or carrots, but nothing tasted as good as watermelons. "Tomorrow they will be ripe (成熟的) and I'll have a good meal," he thought and then fell asleep in his hole. The sun no longer shone as warmly and brightly, and instead, cool air blew, turning the leaves oranges and red. Alec pulled his blanket (毯子) up and wrapped (包裹) himself.

On the morning of the next day, Alec got up and said to himself, "Today is the day." He ran to the watermelon field. "Where are they? All the watermelons are gone!" Alec shouted. He ran about, searching in the fields. But there was nothing. "Someone stole all my watermelons." Alex started smelling the air. "I can smell it." He followed the smell, and he found a group of people sitting together and eating juicy watermelons. Alec almost cried, "There is none for me."

Alec walked back towards his home, his tail dragging (拖着) on the ground. He wandered (漫步) through the pumpkin field and ran his fingers across the huge orange balls. He saw something lying behind a pumpkin. He looked at it once again. Suddenly his eyes lit up. "It is! It's small, but it's all mine." He took it to his home.

Using his sharp teeth, Alec bit his watermelon to pieces. "Ah, at last I get my watermelon! It tasted really good," he thought. Although there was only one, Alec still enjoyed it happily.

六、阅读表达 (共5小题, 计10分)

阅读短文, 根据短文内容回答下列问题。

Interest is the best teacher. For Lu Qirui, running is her favorite. Lu, seventeen-year-old, is from Hangzhou, Zhejiang Province. She became famous after a video showed she finished a 100-meter sprint (短跑) in just 12.07 seconds. She just took part in a school sports meeting, but these numbers are good enough to tell people that she can run as fast as a national-level athlete. It's almost impossible for a teenager to achieve that speed.

When Lu was a little girl, she fell in love with all kinds of sports. Her father is a sports lover. And he used to take her to play basketball, play ping-pong or go swimming. If you ask her who her superstar is, she will tell you it's her father. Her father led her into the world of sports. As she grew older, she showed a talent for sports.

Lu was a fourth grader when she entered the school's track and field (田径) training team. Although she is young, Lu keeps self-discipline (自律) in training every day. She gets up at 6 a.m., starts training at 6:30 a.m. and keeps it until 7:30 a.m.. And she will continue training from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. after school. She has to spend a lot of time on running, but she has never fallen behind others in her studies. She always makes full use of her time to do what she likes.

"I love sports, especially running. So it's not challenging for me to hold on to it," said Lu. In the future, Lu plans to make more achievements in running. As for her dream, she said, "I want to be a P.E. teacher so that more students can feel the happiness that sports bring to them."

56. Why did Lu Qirui become famous? _____

57. Who led her into the world of sports?
