waiting for you. This time, we're asking you to look for people who are working to protect our home planet, Earth.

On April 22, people around the world will celebrate Earth Day. They'll take part in neighborhood cleanups. They'll write letters to lawmakers, asking them to protect the environment. And they'll speak up about climate change online. But you don't need to wait for Earth Day to help the planet. Many people take actions to protect the environment every day. No action is too small—and small actions can add up to big changes.

Junior Journalists, we want to know:

- Who's your Earth hero? Think about the people in your community.
- Who is working to protect the environment? Maybe it's a friend who organized a park cleanup, or a local business owner who has cut down on waste.
- Who inspires you? Find out what that person is doing, and why. And think about what you can learn from him/her.

Notice

- You can write, draw, or record a video blog (vlog) to share your planetary hero's story.
- Make sure to have your parent or a teacher send your work to us here or at tfkpressclub@time.com.
- Kids under 18 must have their parent's or teacher's written permission.

Click here to learn more about the TFK Press Club.

Future City is a project-based learning program. It starts with a question—how can we make the world a better place? To answer it, 6th, 7th, and 8th-grade students imagine, research, design, and build cities of the future. In this way, they can show their solutions to a citywide problem. So far, Future City has played an important role in encouraging middle schoolers to develop their interest in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM).

Each year, Future City has a specific topic. Past topics include stormwater management, public spaces, green energy, and so on. The 2021-2022 theme is A Waste-Free Future. Teams will design a waste-free city. During the study, they need to hand in a 1,500-word city paper to give a general statement (陈述) about the design. Besides this, they also need to hand in a model built from recycled materials. A project plan and a video that shows how they work together and how they present their ideas are required as well. At the same time, teams should get ready for the Q&A part with judges.

This program allows students to do the things that engineers do. For example, to start with, they should identify problems, and then come up with new ideas. Next, they work together to design solutions. After testing, retesting, and building, finally they share their results. This process is called the engineering design process. Centered around this, Future City is a potent way to build students' 21st-century skills. It has a useful effect on encouraging students to use math and science while dealing with real-world problems. They can develop writing, public speaking, time management skills, and project management skills. After completing Future City, students can also learn to be better citizens in the future.

56. _____ can take part in Future City program.
- A. 9th-grade students B. 8th-grade students
C. Engineers D. Researchers
57. Based on the 2021-2022 theme, teams are supposed to design a city that _____.
- A. can deal with stormwater properly B. can use public space effectively
C. can make and use green energy D. aims to reduce and reuse the city's waste
58. If a team needs to finish the design in the shortest time, the best process to do it is _____.
- ① finish a 1,500-word city paper ② build a model
③ make a project plan ④ make a presentation video
- A. ③—②—①—④ B. ③—①—②—④
C. ②—③—①—④ D. ①—②—③—④
59. In Paragraph 3, the underlined word "potent" means _____.
- A. effective B. similar C. simple D. indirect
60. What's the best title for this passage?
- A. The Engineering Design Process
B. A Solution to a Citywide Problem
C. Future City--a Project-based Learning Program
D. The 2021-2022 Theme--A Waste-free Future

When you walk on the road and meet people asking for directions, what will you do?

Aesop, an ancient Greek fable writer, was a very wise and 66 man. One afternoon, Aesop was walking on a road. Suddenly, a man came to him and asked the 67 in a hurry.

"Excuse me!" The man asked 68, "Could you please show me the way to the city? And how long does it take to get there on foot?"

Aesop used his finger to point out the direction and said, "You have to walk."

"Thank you," the man said, "I know I have to walk 69 I have no means of transportation. And I want to 70 you how long it will take me to walk to the city."

Aesop nodded and said again, "You have to walk! You have to walk!"

"Are you playing a 71 on me?" The man was very 72 at Aesop's words and walked away quickly.

But Aesop was not angry at all. He 73 the man closely. After a while, Aesop shouted to the man, "Two hours."

"74?" The man looked back and asked.

"I mean it will take you two hours to walk to the city."

"Then why didn't you tell me just now?" The man asked unhappily.

"Because," Aesop said slowly, "I didn't know your walking 75, how could I know how long you needed?" The man was moved by Aesop's seriousness.

If we are as serious as Aesop about our study and life, we will benefit a lot.

六、读写综合 (本大题分为 A、B 两部分, 共 25 分)

A. 回答问题 (本题有 5 小题, 每小题 2 分, 共 10 分)

请阅读下面这篇文章, 根据所提供的信息, 回答 5 个问题。要求所写答案语法正确, 语义完整, 并把答案写在答题卡指定的位置。

"Time travel" is very popular among young people in recent years. China in Classics gives its audience a different "historical time travel".

At the beginning of the Year of the Ox, a new cultural program appeared. It is China in Classics. In the program, Sa Beining uses classics as a boat to guide the audience through the long river of Chinese civilization. People today travel to ancient times to see how the ancestors created the classics, and the ancients travel to the present to see how people today live the life created by the classics.

In Shang Shu, Sa Beining and ancient book protectors began a dialogue across time and space. They traveled through Ancient Times, Shang Dynasty, Spring and Autumn Period, Warring States, Han Dynasty, Tang Dynasty, etc. During the dynasties, they spread the spirit of Shang Shu. In the modern library, they stopped and watched how children today read books.

Sa Beining invited the elderly Song Yingxing to come today, more than 300 years later. He saw how later generations continued to write Heavenly Creations (《天工开物》) about the sky, the earth, and the ocean. Also, he saw people today being rich in food and clothing, and enjoying the coolness. Song Yingxing and Yuan Longping's handshake crossed time and space. When Song Yingxing took over the super rice plant from Yuan Longping, time was still, but space was endless.

The historical and cultural heritage is left to us by our ancestors. We should cherish it and carry it forward.

76. When did the audience see China in Classics on screens for the first time?

77. Who guides the audience to travel in the long river of Chinese civilization?

78. How many historical periods in Shang Shu are mentioned in this passage?

79. What did Yuan Longping pass to Song Yingxing in the program?

80. How should we treat the historical and cultural heritage?
