根据短文内容, 判断下列各小题的正 (T) 误 (F)。

A spider was looking for a place to make his web(网). He wanted to live there eating, drinking and relaxing with pleasure.

Soon, he found a corner of a house and started making his web there. A cat passing by started laughing loudly after seeing him. When the spider saw the cat laughing, he asked, "Why are you laughing?" The cat replied, "Because you're so silly. Can't you see how clean this place is? No insects will come here. Who will fall in your web?"

After listening to the cat, the spider gave up the idea of making a web in that corner and started looking for another place. Then he saw a window and started making his web there. Then a bird came and started making fun of him, saying, "Are you out of your mind? A strong wind will blow your web away."

Hearing the bird's words, the spider stopped making the web and started searching for another place. But the whole day passed quickly. He was tired, hungry and didn't have any energies to make a web.

A dog was seeing all this and then he went to the spider, "I have been watching you since morning. You just listened to the advice of others and didn't think by yourself, so you didn't complete your web." Hearing the dog, the spider realized his problem.

46. There were three animals talking to the spider in the story.

C

根据短文内容，在 A、B、C、D 四个选项中选择一正确答案。

When was the last time you read a book, or a magazine article? Do you often read on the Internet or through the smartphones? Reading has a large number of advantages, and here're some to get you to start reading.

※Mental Stimulation(脑力锻炼)

Studies have shown that staying mentally stimulated can slow the progress of (or possibly even prevent) mental illnesses, since keeping your brain active prevents it from losing power. Just like any other muscle(肌肉) in the body, the brain requires exercise to keep it strong and healthy, so the phrase "use it or lose it" especially fits when it comes to your mind. Doing puzzles(谜) and playing games such as chess have also been found to be helpful.

※Memory Improvement

When you read a book, you have to remember different kinds of characters, their backgrounds, history and plots(情节) through every story. That's a lot to remember, but brains are fantastic things and can remember these things with relative ease. Amazingly enough, every new memory you create is helpful for recalling. How cool is that?

※Improved Focus

Nowadays, our attention is separated in many different directions at once as we face different tasks every day. When you read a book, all of your attention is focused on the story—the rest of the world will be silent, and you can get yourself into every fine story you're reading.

Try reading for 15-20 minutes before you work or study, and you'll be surprised at how much more focused you are once you get to the office or school.

56. According to the passage, our brain needs _____ to keep it strong and healthy.

- A. muscle B. food C. backgrounds D. exercise

57. You have to keep EXCEPT _____ in your mind while reading.

- A. history B. characters C. chess D. plots

58. The underlined phrase "with relative ease" in the third paragraph probably means _____.

- A. 比较困难地 B. 相对容易地 C. 快乐地 D. 紧张地

59. Reading for 15-20 minutes before work or study can help you _____ from the passage.

- A. get more information B. get good grades
C. improve focus D. improve speed

60. " _____ " can best describe the main idea of the passage.

- A. Why we should read B. What we should read
C. How we can improve our memory D. When you have to read

D

阅读下面短文，将 A—E 五个句子填入文中空缺处，使短文内容完整。

There was once an old and deep well.

People got water by dropping a bucket(桶) tied to a rope(绳子). The rope passed over a wheel just above the well. On the other side of the rope was another bucket. 61 They always passed each other on the way up and down, but never had time to speak.

At last, the rope became worn(磨损的). 62 While this was being done, the two buckets were left standing together near the well. 63 "I am quite tired of it. No matter how full we come up, we are always sent down empty."

But the other bucket laughed and said, "You have a funny way of looking at things! Don't you see that whenever we are sent down empty, we always come up full?"

64 You may hear some of them say, "Just as we are having a good game, we are made to stop and go to work again." The others will reply, "Yes, but as soon as the work is over, we always get to go out and have fun again."

There are two ways of looking at things. 65
