When I was growing up, I didn't remember when I heard the words "I love you" from my father. When your father never says them to you when you are a child, it gets more difficult for him to say those words as he gets older. One day, in our next phone call, I blurted out(脱口而出) the words, "Dad... I love you!"

There was a silence at the other end and then he said, "Well, same back to you!"

I chuckled(咯咯笑) and said, "Dad, I know you love me, and when you are ready, I know you will say what you want to say."

A few weeks later, Dad concluded(结束) our phone conversation with the words, "Paul, I love you."

The tears were rolling down my cheeks as I finally heard the love.
Soon after the phone call, my father nearly died after a heart surgery(外科手术). After the surgery, I often thought if I did not say the words first and Dad did not survive(幸存) the surgery, I would have never “heard” the love.

- ()54. The writer wanted to hear _____ from his father.
A. The words “I love you.” B. The words “I like you.”
C. The words “I am proud of you” D. The words “I miss you.”
- ()55. The writer was _____ to tears as he finally heard the words from his father.
A. angry B. cold C. worried D. moved
- ()56. What can we learn from the passage?
A. The writer loved his father very much.
B. The writer had a surgery after he said the words.
C. The writer’s father never said the words to his son.
D. The writer’s father did not want to say the words at all.
- ()57. Which of the following can be the best title(标题) for the passage?
A. How cute my father is. B. I “Heard” the love.
C. A nice present. D. A funny phone call.

D

In a small tree, there lived a squirrel(松鼠) and a bird. During the summer, the squirrel spent a lot of time getting food to store in the tree. The bird would just fly around all day and have fun.

One day, the bird asked the squirrel, “Squirrel, why do you work so hard?” the squirrel answered, “Because I need to make sure I have lots of food when winter comes.” The bird laughed at(嘲笑) the squirrel. “Aren’t you tired? Winter is a long time away. There is a lot of time to find food. You should have fun when the weather is nice.”

The bird played all the summer when the squirrel worked, and when winter came, the squirrel had a lot of food. However, the bird had nothing to eat. The bird asked the squirrel for some food, but the squirrel told him, “Sorry, you had your time, but you didn’t use it well.”
