Yang Hongwei, 56, was born into a kite-making family in Weifang. When she was young, she often saw kites with bright colors and different shapes in her grandfather's workshop.

"Every time I see these beautiful kites, my bad feelings go away," said Yang.

Yang learned to make kites from her grandfather at the age of 16. After practicing the skill for 10 years, she started her own shop in 1992.

"Many places around the world have a tradition of flying kites," Yang said. "But I think the cultural idea behind our kites is special."

On Yang's kites, people can see not only common pictures like butterflies and birds, but also some prints telling Chinese myths, legends and history. For example, she once made a kite with a phoenix(凤凰). On each side of the phoenix were 50 images(形象) of famous women from Chinese history. Each woman was different in look, clothes and makeup.

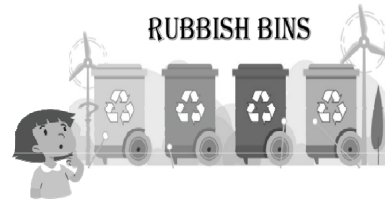

"It took me a lot of time," Yang said, "but when I explain the stories of the kites to foreigners, I feel a great sense of achievement."

In her free time, Yang travels to countries such as Germany, Australia, the United States and New Zealand. She tells the stories of Chinese kites and the traditional ways they are made. "It is an important job of mine." She said.

Do you ever find yourself standing in front of rubbish bins, not sure whether the piece of waste in your hand is recyclable or not? To solve this problem, four Hong Kong high school students have invented a smart rubbish bin that uses AI to sort(分类) the waste. The students named the bin Waste Collection Point.

Connected to a computer, the bin uses a camera to tell the kind of the waste it receives and sorts it into plastic, paper, glass, or other kinds. To make sure the bin can sort waste correctly, the team tested every product in the school shop and took at least 500 pictures of each one. “To train the AI, we had to take many photos from different angles(角度), so it has a better rate of accuracy,” said one of the students who built the AI system.

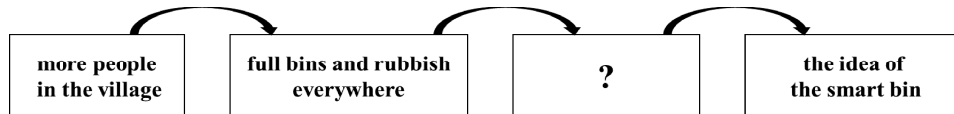

The idea of the smart bin was born two years ago, when the students were in Grade Ten. At that time, people from the city crowded into their village because of the COVID-19. They left behind a lot of rubbish and caused more pollution.

“All the bins were full, and there was even rubbish on the mountain,” the students recalled, “Every weekend, we had to join the villagers in picking up the waste.”

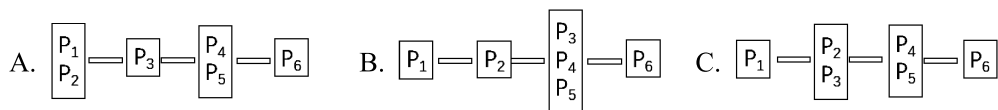

The students decided to develop a special recycling bin that would encourage people to protect the environment. Although school ended at 2 pm, the team would continue to work on their invention until 6 or 7 pm at school. Even when their school was closed last year, they would still meet and work together online.

“Our bin is now in its third generation(代). Before graduation, we hope it can be widely used in the city.” The students said, “Then it will be easier than ever for people to recycle and protect our environment.”

阅读下面短文, 按要求完成下列各题。

Socrates was famous in ancient Greece for his knowledge. One day, one of his friends went up to him and said, "I've just heard something about your friend, do you want to know?"

"Well," Socrates said, "Before telling me anything, I'd like you to pass a test. It's called the triple filter(三重筛选) test."

"Triple filter?"

"That's right," Socrates continued, "Before you talk to me about my friend, it is a good idea to think about what you will say. The first filter is _____. Are you sure what you are going to tell me is true?"

"In fact, I just heard about it and..." the man said.

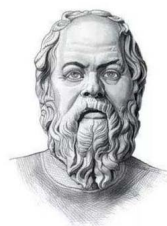

"All right," Socrates said, "So you don't really know whether it's true or not. Now let's try the second filter—goodness. Is what you are going to tell me good?"

"No, on the contrary(相反)..." the man replied.

"Okay," Socrates continued, "The last filter is usefulness. Is what you are going to tell me useful to me?"

"No, not really." The man said.

"Well," Socrates ended, "If what you want to tell me is not true, good or even useful, why tell it to me at all?"

Little Life Skills Are a Big Help

Life skills are necessary for us teenagers. To live more healthily and happily, we are supposed to learn more new skills. As for me, I would like to choose cooking, which is a basic skill in our daily life. It's wonderful to create my own dishes. Besides, learning to look after my family is also my wish.

In order to develop my cooking skill, I will first ask my mother for help. I think the dishes she cooks are the most delicious in the world. And it's also a good idea to learn from the cooking videos online.

Little life skills are a big help. Let's take action now.

IV. 短文理解

This morning, we had a school trip to the Dashan Collection House, a building of two floors. We took the school bus and arrived at 9:00. When we entered the house, our eyes were caught by a collection of old photos. Those photos told us something about the history of the town.

Then we went upstairs. On the left, there were over one hundred different clocks. The oldest clock was already more than two hundred years old. On the right, there was a stone collection. The stones were in different sizes, colors and shapes. I really loved one stone that looked like a little rabbit, which was eating a carrot.

The collections there were wonderful. We stayed there until 11:00. Everyone had a good time in the school trip.
