Fights at school sometimes happen. But how can you keep away from a fight? Here's something you can do.

Be calm(冷静). Sometimes, you feel so angry that you really want to teach somebody a lesson. But being angry can't solve (解决) problems. A fight can't help, either. It may bring you more problems. In the school, everyone will be punished (惩罚), if he gets into a fight. There are no winners in a fight.

Shout loudly. If you know someone is coming up behind you to attack, turn towards the person with your hands up in front of your body and loudly say "stop" before walking away. Loud voice can usually make the attacker calm down. If the person doesn't stop, shout for help by calling out the name of a teacher whose office is not far away.

Your friend may ask you to join in a fight, but helping him fight is not really helpful to him. If you really want to help him, try to ask him to give it up. Also, he may get hurt and be punished. Then, try to learn why he wants a fight and help him find a right way to solve the problem.

61. If you really want to solve problems, what should you do?

- A. Feel angry.                      B. Keep calm.                      C. Have a fight.                      D. Shout loudly.

- A. make students work hard                      B. ask students to help each other
C. teach students to keep calm                      D. tell students to keep away from a fight
