D

I have a 6-second (秒) rule. What's the 6-second rule? If I have something I need to do but I don't want to, I will count down: 6,5,4...1. Then I'll do it. Why did I pick (选择) 6? It was my lucky number.

When I was a child, I always used it to get out of the bed. Sometimes I also used it to stop my playing time. After 6 seconds, I would stop playing or watching TV.

When I was a school student, I used it for my homework. It really worked well. Sometimes, I didn't have to count down to 1. I knew I would have to do it, so I would just do it.

When I was an adult (成年人), I could do everything well by the rule of 6. When I began trying something new like running, cooking or reading, it never failed (让……失望) me.

Just go to pick a number from 3 to 10. If you want to pick 1 or 2, I don't think you need this rule. Then follow the rule and it really works well for you.

52. What does the underlined phrase "count down" mean in Chinese?

- A. 倒数 B. 计算 C. 背诵 D. 默写

53. When the writer was a child, he always used the rule to _____.

- A. run, cook or read B. play with friends
C. get out of the bed D. go to bed

54. If you want to pick a number as your rule, the best one is _____ according to (根据) the passage.

- A. one B. two C. five D. fifteen

55. What can we know about from this passage?

- A. The writer began cooking when he was a child.
B. The writer made his 6-second rule when he was 6.
C. The writer asked all the people to follow his 6-second rule.
D. The writer picked 6, because 6 was his lucky number.

E

Every summer holiday, my children and I visit my parents. They live very far from us. It is the only time my parents can see my daughters, Emma and Jenny.

This summer holiday, I drove the car there. Emma and Jenny's mother, Susana, sat next to me. Emma and Jenny sat in the back seat (座位). Our cat, Susie, sat by my daughters' feet. We didn't want to meet the heavy traffic, so we drove at night.

The first three hours was fine. Emma, Jenny and Susie slept in the back seat. Susana talked with me. I didn't feel sleepy. And at about 1:00 a.m., Susana went to sleep (睡着了), too. I was so sleepy, so I stopped at a small stop and bought a cup of tea (茶) to keep a cool head. But it didn't work. I was still very sleepy.

When I really wanted to sleep, Susie jumped on my head and made me stop the car at once. At that time, I saw my car almost went out of the road. Thanks to Susie, I kept a cool head when I drove the rest of our trip.
