The Shenzhou 14 manned spaceship set off on June 5th and will fly in orbit for 6 months. This is the first manned task since the Chinese space station stepped into the building stage. In order to make sure the spaceship can be in good condition to complete the task, the ground scientific research team "covered" the spaceship with a black technology "coat".

Different from the past, in this stage, the spaceship will be in a changeable environment with the lowest temperature of below -100°C and the highest temperature of over 100°C . The extreme environment outside brings a great challenge to the health of astronauts and the safety of the spaceship.

To solve the problem, the team developed a magic "coat" for the Shenzhou spaceship "family" by using a special technology — Low absorption-Low emission type thermal control coating(低吸收-低排放型热控涂层). Low absorption means that the coating is not easy to take in the sunlight, which can actually lower the temperature rise caused by the sun. Low emission means that the coating has a low infrared emissivity(红外发射率), which can greatly hold the heat and stop the temperature drop in the spaceship. The inside temperature can always be controlled between 18°C and 26°C , offering a comfortable environment for astronauts.

The performance of this black technology "coat" has been successfully tested on the Shenzhou 13 spaceship. The outside world noticed that on April 16, when the Shenzhou 13 spaceship landed on the earth, it was "wearing golden armor(盔甲)". Because of the "coat" protection, the spaceship has made a record of the longest in-orbit flying time.

Now, the Shenzhou 14 manned spaceship is once again wearing a new "coat" to start a new journey, continuing to protect the astronauts and the spaceship.

61. The black technology "coat" can help to _____.
 A. change the space environment
 B. fly the spaceship in orbit
 C. control the spaceship temperature
 D. keep the space station warm
62. What does the underlined word "extreme" mean in Chinese?
 A. 极端的

 C. 脆弱的
 D. 荒凉的

63. According to Paragraph 3, the coating on the spaceship can _____.

- ① lower the temperature rise ② check the temperature of astronauts
③ stop the temperature drop ④ keep a comfortable inside temperature

A. ①②③ B. ②③④ C. ①②④ D. ①③④

64. From Paragraph 4, we know that the Shenzhou 13 spaceship _____.

- A. started a new flying test B. made a new record
C. wore a real golden armor D. set off on April 16

65. What would be the best title for the text?

- A. A new "armor" for the space environment.
B. A new "coat" for the Shenzhou 14 spaceship.
C. A new "exam" for the Shenzhou 13 spaceship.
D. A new "landmark" for the Chinese space station.
