Once there was a woman named Patty living in a small village. One day, she milked her cow and had two full pails(桶)of fresh milk. She never got so much milk at a time, so she decided to sell it at the market. She put the pails of milk on both ends of a stick, carried it on her shoulder(肩膀)and set off to the market. As she walked to the market, her mind began to wander a bit. On her way, she kept thinking about the money she would make from selling the milk. Then she thought about what she would do with that money.

She was talking to herself and said, "Once I get the money, I'll buy some chickens. The chickens will lay(下蛋)eggs and I will get more chickens. They'll all lay eggs, and I will sell the eggs for more money. Someday, I'll buy a house on the hill." She was excited about the thoughts of becoming rich and having a better life.

With these happy thoughts, she walked more excitedly. As she almost got to the market, suddenly she fell. Both of the pails of the milk fell to the ground. There was no milk left for her to sell. All Patty could do was cry and shout, "Why?!"

Nails(指甲)are small body parts. They are small, but they are useful. They have their own jobs. Do you want to know more about your nails?

The hard surfaces(表面)of your nails help to protect your fingers and toes(脚趾). And your fingernails can help you do some tiny things in your everyday life. For example, if you find a dog hair on your sofa, you can use your fingernails to pick it up easily. If you don't have any fingernails, you can't do it easily. Don't you believe that? Just try.

There are some interesting facts about nails.

★ You had fingernails and toenails before you were born.

★ Your fingernails seem to grow slowly. But in fact they grow about 2.4 millimeters each month.

★ Your fingernails can show your health. Don't be surprised if your doctor takes a look at your nails. Some doctors can know more about your health by checking your fingernails.
