Dear Jill,

How is your study? It's Sunday today. I'm writing to tell you about things in Beijing.

Beijing is different from London. In our country, we drive on the left side of the road, but here people drive on the right side. Most people go to work by bus or by subway. The rush hours (高峰时间) are from seven to nine in the morning and from five to seven in the afternoon. People in China work around eight hours a day, five days a week. They usually begin to work at eight in the morning, and rest on Saturday and Sunday.

I have Chinese classes every morning from Monday to Thursday. The students in our class are from many countries. We're all working hard and friendly. The Chinese students are ready to help with our Chinese. We're getting along very well. That's all for today. Please write to me soon.

Yours,
 Tina
