I'm sorry to hear that you have problems with classmates. I'm glad to help you. Here are some suggestions for you.

First, when you have difficulties, you should talk to your parents, your teachers or your friends and share your sadness and happiness with them. They will help you solve the problem.

Second, when you get on with your friends, you are supposed to respect them.

Third, you should be friendly to people around you. You can help each other.

Last but not least, you have to be honest to your friends. Then you will make more friends. If you can get on well with your friends, you will enjoy yourself every day.

I hope everything will go well with you soon.

Yours,

Li Hua
