There is a special hut (小屋) on the side of a small road. Some students built it for a five-year-old boy named Ryder Killam.

Ryder was born with a kind of illness and was unable to walk. Every school day, Ryder waited for his school bus for about 15 minutes at the bus stop. He felt so cold on cold days, and he often got wet when it rained. His father put a big umbrella there, but it didn't work well.

After learning Ryder's problem on the Internet, Mr. Mckena, a high school teacher, decided to do something. His students also offered to help. They worked hard on it for several weeks. They also learned new skills on the Internet in order to build a perfect hut before the snow fell. Six weeks later, the 5×8 feet new stop hut finally took the place of the big umbrella.

"We were so amazed. It is much bigger than we thought. It allows Ryder to have a safe and warm place to stay while waiting for the bus," said the father. Ryder loves his nice stop hut very much. The family thanked the teens for their kindness.

五、短文填空 (本大题共 10 小题，每小题 1.5 分，共 15 分)

请用适当的词完成下面这篇短文，并把所缺单词填写在答题卡指定的位置上。每个空只能填写一个形式正确、意义相符的单词。

Mountain climbing can be seen as one of the most dangerous sports in the world. Then (66) _____ do people like to do the sport? The Himalayas running along the southwestern part of China are one of the most popular places.

Of all the mountains, Qomolangma is higher and (67) _____ famous than any other one. And it can be very (68) _____ to climb the 8844.43-meter-high mountain with thick clouds and heavy snow on the top. More than that, there are more serious difficulties (69) _____ freezing weather conditions and heavy storms waiting for you. Also, the closer you are to the top, the harder it'll be for you to (70) _____ because there isn't much air there. On May 29, 1953, Tenzing Norgay and Edmund Hillary became the first people to (71) _____ the top. Soon the first Chinese team also made it in 1960, while the first woman Junko Tabei from Japan succeeded in 1975.

Why do so many people still take risks even (72) _____ they know it's dangerous? Maybe this is one of the (73) _____ ---they want to challenge (74) _____ in front of difficulties. They show us that humans can be stronger than the forces of nature and teach us not to give up (75) _____ our dreams at any time.

六、读写综合(本大题分为 A、B 两部分,共 25 分)

A. 回答问题(本题共 5 小题,每小题 2 分,共 10 分)

请阅读下面这篇文章,根据所提供的信息,回答 5 个问题。要求所写答案语法正确、语义完整,并把答案写在答题卡指定的位置。

Ms. Wang recently had a worrying experience. One morning, just as she arrived at her office, she noticed some missed calls from her mother. When she called back, she was surprised to find her mother just wanted the phone charger (充电器). Wang took it to her office by mistake. When she went home quickly, she found her mother's phone was still 70 percent charged. She just worried the phone would run out of power (没电).

Wang found that her mother spent eight hours a day playing games, reading the news and watching short videos online. Wang said her mother had a headache these days. Wang's mother is not alone. More and more old people in China spend too much time on their phones now. That may cause health problems and family problems.

A doctor says old people have lots of free time and often feel lonely. So they want to communicate with others. For many old people a smart phone is the best way to kill time. "Adult children should go home more often to talk with their parents and help them to do more healthy activities. Then they will feel much happier," the doctor advises.

76. Who were Wang's missed calls from?

77. How much time did Wang's mother spend on her phone a day?

78. What problems may spending too much time on the phone cause?

79. Why do old people want to communicate with others?

80. How should adult children help their parents feel much happier?

B. 书面表达(本题 15 分)
