A Wallet

Last Monday afternoon, when I went back home from school, I found a wallet on the ground. There was a lot of money in it when I opened it. My heart beat so fast that I could hear it. What should I do? I asked myself. I needed money to buy the toy car that I was thirsty for a long time. So I put the wallet in my bag quickly and silently. But in the evening I couldn't fall asleep at all. It seemed a person talked to me all the time "you are a bad boy." A big decision was made by me at last. The wallet was handed in to the teacher the next day. Later the policeman found the owner and thanked me. I was praised by the whole school. A happy smile turned on my face. And a lesson has been learned by me "Never keep the things that don't belong to you."
