Hello, everyone! I'm a special astronaut. I am a monkey. I arrived at the space station by rocket. Do you know what I saw in space? I saw a planet. It's our Earth. Our Earth is a beautiful blue planet. But our Earth is becoming warmer and warmer. The weather in summer this year is hotter than ever before. We can do lots of things such as cutting down the times we drive our cars. I feel very sad and I want to cry. Let's do what we can do to make our Earth better.

四、听力填空

本题你将听到一篇短文。请你根据所听内容,完成下面的句子,并将获取的信息填到答题卡相应的位置上。每空一词。

What do you think life will be like in the future? Here are some answers from some students.

I am Mary. There will be many robots in factories. People only need to tell them to do something on their computers or phones without leaving their homes.

I am Jack. The weather in the future will be very hot. And people will build houses under the sea. Many people won't live on the earth any more. They will have to go to other planets.

I am Linda. I think the life in the future will be nice. There will be a lot of flowers and trees. And cities will probably look like parks.

I am Henry. People will not need to eat food. They will live long with special medicine. And they will hardly ever get ill. Everybody will be able to live to be 100 years old.

书面表达

One Possible Version:

To be honest, it is important for us to learn kinds of skills. As for me, I always help my parents cook when I'm free. It can give me a sense of satisfaction and help me develop an easy life skill.

I clearly remember it was 2 years ago. Once, my parents went out for work so I decided to cook a meal for them. First of all, I washed all kinds of vegetables and cut them into small pieces. After searching for some videos about cooking and preparing everything in order, I followed the steps carefully. Although the food didn't taste as what I had expected, my parents were very happy. The process of cooking still brought me a strong feeling of satisfaction.

From this experience, I realize that we should always try something new to enrich our life. No matter what kind of skill it is, we need to put all our heart into it so that it can add some colors to our life.
