Can we listen to music when doing homework?

Life is boring without music. It's good for us to listen to music. Is it good or bad for us to listen to music when doing homework? Here are some students' answers.

Some students think listening to music can make them excited, relaxed and clear-minded, so they like to music as they do homework. But some students don't think so. They think music affects their thinking. As a result, it just makes them feel more tired. It's really a waste of time.

As for me, I like doing homework with music, because sometimes it can bring us some inspiration.
