Do you know how to cook, clean or grow plants? If not, you will know soon. These will all be part of Chinese public education.

A new standard (标准) for labor (劳动) education recently came out. Students in primary and middle school will have at least one class a week to try and experience different kinds of labor and learn different life skills and even job skills. The standard includes different tasks for each grade.

This move is to enrich Chinese students' life and build their character through labor. Chinese school education didn't pay enough attention to this in the past. According to a 2019 report, Chinese kids only do 12 minutes of practical activity each day, while US kids do 1.2 hours each day, China Daily reported.

The standard also calls on families to take part in students' labor education. In addition to household skills, students will have a chance to try new technologies.

56. According to Paragraph 2, what change is coming for students in primary and middle school?

- A. They will have classes on weekends.
- B. They will learn basic life skills at school.

Last year, I went to Italy as an exchange student. Before leaving, I asked my mother what gifts I should take to the teachers and the students there. Mom said that the Chinese fan was a good choice, for China is praised as "the Fan Kingdom". I couldn't agree more, because it is more than a tool for cooling. It's also an important part of Chinese culture.

I went shopping and bought three kinds of Chinese fans. The first kind was the feather (羽毛) fan for the teachers, which was made of bird feathers. It was the symbol of Zhuge Liang, a very smart man in ancient China. The fans I bought for the girls were silk fans. They were also called "round silk fans". Fans of this kind were made of silk with paintings of beautiful women, birds or flowers. They were very popular with women of all ages. As for the boys, I picked the folding fans from Rongchang, a place in the west of Chongqing. The folding fans were made of paper and bamboo and there were great paintings and calligraphy (书法) on them.

At the welcome party in Italy, my new teachers and classmates were all excited to get the wonderful fans. And they were even more excited after learning about the stories and culture behind them.

59. Where did the writer study last year?

- A. In China.
- B. In India.
- C. In America.
- D. In Italy.

60. What were the folding fans made of?
 A. cloth and bamboo. B. silk and stick.
 C. paper and bamboo. D. silk and bamboo.

Because of the outbreak (疫情), many people look for fun online. Watching livestreaming (直播的) shows has become part of their lives. At the same time, traditional culture has found a bigger stage (舞台) online. Many traditional artists are starting to livestream, like Douyin and Bilibili. Some of them sing Peking Opera, some show their folk handcrafts(民间手工艺), while others perform Chinese classical music. A growing number of young people are starting to become more interested in traditional culture because of livestreaming.

Li Ju is a Peking Opera performer with the Shanghai Jingju Theater Company. After the outbreak, the 59-year-old took up his smartphone and started livestreaming. Unlike performing on a formal (正式的) stage, Li uses ordinary(普通的) places as his stage, including his backyard and study room. Apart from singing, Li also teaches viewers (观看者) about Peking Opera. People can ask him questions and get answers directly.

"Livestreaming has brought this beautiful art down to earth," one viewer said. "It gives young people an easier access(途径) to this traditional art and learn more about it." Li has more than 6000 fans on Douyin, while one of his videos got 42,000 views on Bilibili.

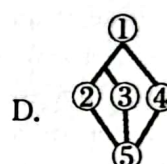

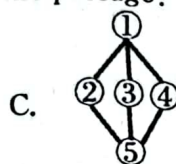

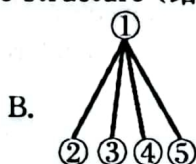

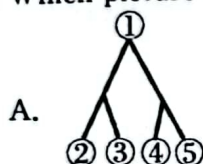

On March 26th, 2020, Bilibili livestreamed a huafu show on the third China Huafu Day (中国华服日). Performers presented(推出) clothes in traditional Chinese styles, including those from Wei, Tang and Ming dynasties. During the show, viewers not only enjoyed looking at the clothes, but also watched how performers used ancient styles of make-up(古代化妆术).

As Guangming Daily noted, livestreaming has come to a new stage through which traditional culture can be kept alive.

66. In the second paragraph, the writer mentioned Li Jun in order to _____.
 A. give an example of traditional culture livestreaming
 B. ask young people to learn from Li Jun
 C. tell young people to learn Peking Opera
 D. ask young people to enjoy Li Jun's livestreaming
67. Livestreaming is a new stage to _____ according to this passage.
 A. look for fun during the outbreak
 B. keep traditional culture alive
 C. sing and watch easily and freely
 D. ask questions and get answers directly
68. Which of the following is true according to the passage?
 A. Many traditional artists are starting to sell folk handicrafts on Douyin and Bilibili.
 B. More people have interest in traditional culture with the help of livestreaming.
 C. Peking Opera performer Li Jun has more than 42,000 fans on Douyin.
 D. Performers presented Chinese classical music in the Huaifu show.
69. Which picture shows the structure (结构) of the passage?

Last summer, Maria and her mother moved from their house in the countryside to a flat building in Chicago. Maria really liked some things about the city, but she missed her house and yard in the countryside.

One day, Maria was in her flat building when she noticed her neighbor, Mrs. Garcia, carrying a gardening tool and a bag of soil(泥土). Maria wondered how Mrs. Garcia was able to garden in the city.

"My mom used to grow the most delicious vegetables, and I know she misses her garden now that we don't have a yard," said Maria.

Mrs. Garcia laughed. "I'll show you," she said.

Maria thought that Mrs. Garcia would take her to the park, but she took her to the roof(屋顶). When the door opened, Maria was surprised to see rows of flowers and vegetables on the roof.

"What a wonderful garden!" said Maria.

Mrs. Garcia told Maria that for a long time the roof was just an empty space. Then some of the people in the building asked the owners to turn it into a community garden. The building owners liked the idea because the plants not only helped to keep the air clean, but they also helped to keep the building cooler during warmer weather.

"I plant flowers in my own place," Mrs. Garcia said, "but you would be surprised by how different the plants are up here. Some people grow vegetables just like your mom. You can do some of the same things in the city as in the countryside. You just have to be creative!"

70. Which of the following is NOT the advantage(优势) of the community garden?
 A. It used the empty space well.
 B. It helped keep the air clean.
 C. It made the building stronger.
 D. It helped keep the building cooler

71. After Maria visited the garden, she would most probably ask her mom to _____.
A. go back to the countryside B. grow vegetables on the roof
C. pick flowers from the garden D. show her around the park
72. What is the best title for this passage?
A. A Creative girl B. A Special Building C. An Empty Roof D. A Rooftop Garden

When I was in the 4th grade, I got to take a trip to the moon. I remember the day like it was yesterday. It was one of the strangest experiences I had ever had.

It all started when Miss Fritz, our science teacher, was showing a video of solar system (太阳系) and different planets. Suddenly I noticed a shiny disc (亮盘) lying on the floor. I kept trying to pay attention to the video, but I found myself reaching over to pick up the disc.

As soon as I touched it, something strange happened. I wasn't in the classroom anymore. I was flying in the air! I was a little nervous, but also very excited. Soon I was standing on the moon. It was amazing! It looked very different from the earth. No trees, water, or houses. There wasn't even any wind. Later I saw a flag. On the flag were the words, "To return to the earth, close your eyes."

I knew it might get dark soon and I didn't want to be on the moon by myself. So I decided to close my eyes. When I opened my eyes, I was still in my science classroom. Miss Fritz was turning on the lights because the video was over. I sat there wondering what had just happened. I looked around to look for the disc, but it was gone! Did I really take a trip to the moon or was it just a dream?

73. What subject did Miss Fritz teach? (不超过 5 个词)
